This Report has been prepared and edited on behalf of the Historical Manuscripts Commissioners by Mr. William Paley Baildon, F.S.A.

INTRODUCTION.

The full account of the MSS. of the Dean and Chapter of Wells given by Mr. W. H. B. Bird in the Introduction to the first volume of this Calendar renders any general description of them unnecessary here. The present volume takes up the Calendar where Mr. Bird left off, and completes the Report.

As explained by Mr. Bird, the present Report is a much amplified reprint of the Report prepared for the Historical MSS. Commissioners by the late Rev. James Arthur Bennett, rector of South Cadbury, and issued in 1885. The arrangement of the documents in the present volume differs from that adopted by Mr. Bennett; an analysis of his volume is given by Mr. Bird (p. viii), from which it will be seen that the Account Rolls were placed after the extracts from the Act and Ledger Books, and that each set of accounts was treated separately.

It has now been considered that a strictly chronological arrangement is more useful to students, inasmuch as all the documents dealt with, though separate in form, are really parts of one whole and relate to one set of transactions, the records of the working of the Chapter. Thus, an entry in an account roll may be explained by an order of the Chapter, while documents referred to in the Act Books are often entered fully in the Ledger Books. Accordingly, all the documents (except the charters) will here be found in chronological order, the accounts being placed at the end of the year, when documents other than accounts also exist.

Obviously the charters do not fall in conveniently with this plan, and they have been placed together at the end of the volume, as before. A large number of these early deeds are undated. They were arranged, numbered and calendared a good many years ago by Mr. W. de Gray Birch, then of the British Museum. No attempt has been made to interfere with his arrangement or to disturb the numbering, even in cases where a document was clearly misplaced (e.g. No. 672).

The documents contained in this volume are as follows:—

The Account Rolls mentioned above have been examined, extracted and translated by the Rev. W. E. Daniel, M.A., Prebendary of Timberscombe and Rector of Horsington. The later Account Rolls and Cash Books have all been examined down to 1750, and various items of interest extracted.

(2) Act Books.

Liber Ruber, section II,		1486–1514, pp. 101–237.
Lettered H.,		1571–1599, ,, 292–338.
Not lettered		1591–1607, ,, 328–354.
,,	,,	1608–1622, ,, 354–379.

,,	,,	1705–1725, ,, 485–513.
,,	,,	1726–1744, ,, 513–541.

The loss of the Act Books prior to 1486 is much to be deplored. The two gaps, 1514–1571 and 1666–1683, are also most unfortunate ; the earlier hiatus leaves us in the dark as to the troublous times of Henry VIII and Mary and the early years of Elizabeth, while the 1666–1683 period, especially the early part of it, would have shown us the Chapter once more settling down to regular routine after the enforced absence from 1645 to 1660. We must be thankful for two years of this period, 1664–1666, but it is clear that much remained to be done, both with regard to the staff and also the fabric and furniture.

The Act Books later than 1744 have not been examined.

(3) Ledger Books.

Lettered D, 1533–1545, pp. 243–261.
,, E, 1546–1565, ,, 261–291.

These two volumes have been dealt with fully because there are no Act Books for the period covered by them ; they show very clearly the extraordinary and scandalous traffic that went on in connection with both episcopal and chapter property.

The later Ledger Books have been examined down to 1813, and various items of interest extracted.

The object of examining these books to so late a date was to clear up some topographical uncertainties with regard to the Canons' Barn, Montroy College and certain canonical houses, to which my attention was called by Canon Church. It seems quite clear that the College of Annuellars stood on the site of the large eighteenth century house at the corner of the North Liberty and Montroy or College Lane ; the extracts dated 1695, April 15 (p. 474), 1704–5, March 17 (p. 485), 1722, August 25 (p. 507), 1724, October 31 (p. 512), 1729, January 19 (p. 519), 1733, October 2 (p. 524), 1779, June 14 (p. 545), and 1791, May 2 (p. 545), leave no doubt on the point. It has been suggested, as I understand, that the College stood further north, and away from the two roads.

(4) Charters.

Nos. 1–922, pp. 546–724.

A full translation of Queen Elizabeth's charter to the Chapter was printed in 1881 by Mr. H. E. Reynolds (Wells Cathedral, pp. 243–278) ; it has therefore not been thought necessary to reprint this very lengthy document here. In the same work will be found (facing p. 240) a table of collations to priories and chantries in the cathedral for the years 1487 to 1513, extracted from Liber Ruber II ; the lists for 1487 and 1488 only are here printed (pp. 106, 112).

Anything like a general commentary on the documents here printed would be outside the scope of the Historical MSS. Commission, which is to provide material only. I venture, however, to make a few remarks about the Communar, Eschcator and Master of the Fabric, and their accounts ; the functions of the two former are by no means obvious at first sight, and there seems to have been a certain amount of overlapping.

The accounts of the three spending officers are, as will be seen from the list, very incomplete, particularly those of the Master, Keeper or Clerk of the Fabric. The earlier documents of each set are extracted nearly in full, but in the later ones constantly recurring items are omitted, while after 1560 only items of special interest are extracted.

The nature of the Fabric Rolls is sufficiently explained by their title. The income of the Master of the Fabric was made up of rents of various properties and some pensions from churches, oblations in the various pixes in the cathedral, other gifts and legacies, collections made by the Brotherhood of St. Andrew throughout the diocese, the income payable by prebendaries to their vicars when there were no vicars serving those particular stalls, fees for burials, and receipts by the sale of superfluous building material, stone, timber, lead, glass, etc., and of gifts and legacies in kind. His expenditure included everything connected with the maintenance of the fabric and furniture, except such items as were paid by the Communar out of the receipts from Biddisham and Barlynch.

The Communar was, as his name implies, the administrator of the communa or common fund of the canons residentiary. This fund, the main source of the income of the establishment as a whole, was derived from the receipts from the Chapter's manors while they were in hand, paid by the respective reeves, and the rent of such manors when they were let to farm, paid by the respective farmers, the profits of the markets of Lydeard and Stogumber, paid by the serjeants, pensions from impropriated churches (vicarages) in respect of the rectorial rights of the Chapter, payments from the bailiff of the Hundred of North Curry, rents of shops and houses at Wells, the income of vacant churches, fines and heriots, fees of the seal (i.e. fees for affixing the Chapter seal to deeds of various kinds), sales of corn, stone, wood, etc.

The first charge on the fund was the payment to the bishop, canons, vicars and other officers, of money for their sustenance, their commons, often called "cotidians" or "quotidians"*; these had at one time been provided in kind to some extent, but the whole was converted to a cash payment by Bishop Jocelin in 1242 [Vol. I, p. 60; Church, Early History, etc., pp. 235, 236].

After payment of the money for commons, the Communar sets down a very miscellaneous collection of items of expenditure, including stipends of minor officers, outside fees to advocates, attorneys and such-like, procurations, clerical subsidies to the King, pensions to retired dignitaries, payments to chantry-priests in respect of obits, for oil, wine and bread used in the cathedral services, for repairing buildings belonging to the Chapter other than the cathedral, and for the general working expenses of the Chapter. The balance of the common fund was divided yearly among the canons residentiary.

The income from the Biddisham property had been assigned to the Communar for the repairs of the cathedral and the purchase of ornaments [Vol. I, p. 33 ; Church, op. cit., pp. 16, 353]. The accounts for this fund are entered separately from the general fund ; they show that the original purpose was not very strictly adhered to, since payments were made to the master of the schools, the sacrist, the keeper of the organs, and so on.

A third fund received by the Communar, and also entered separately, was the pension paid by the prior of Barlynch. Its primary purpose seems to have been to provide for certain obits, but payments were also made for wax candles and other purposes in connection with the services.

The name and functions of the Escheator are less obvious. The name may perhaps be derived from the fact that the income of prebends vacant by death was payable to him for the first year after the occurrence of the vacancy ; the primary meaning of "escheat" [ex-cadere] is anything falling in to a person, not necessarily by forfeiture or failure of heirs, as in its narrower meaning. The royal escheator dealt not only with property falling to the Crown by failure of heirs or forfeiture, but also with the Crown rights in the case of minority of the heir, and with the King's "year and a day" where the forfeiture fell to a mesne lord, both of which present some analogies to the income of vacant prebends at Wells.

These sums from vacant prebends formed the principal source of the Escheator's income. They were paid by a custom already described as "ancient" in 1320 [Vol. I, p. 191], and which was initiated by Bishop Robert and confirmed by Bishop Jocelin in 1213 [Church, op. cit., pp. 19, 185] ; two-thirds of the income belonged to the canons ; one-third, "the deceased's portion," appearing so often in the Escheator's accounts, belonged to the representatives of the deceased for the payment of debts and obits [Vol. I, p. 255 ; Church, loc. cit.].

Other sums received by the Escheator were the rents of certain land and houses at Wells, moneys or other endowments given for the celebration of obits and anniversaries, oblations, burial fees, and moneys derived from the sale of mortuaries.

His expenditure was almost entirely in connection with obits and anniversaries, payments to vicars, chaplains, choristers and others for conducting such services, and for bread distributed to the poor on these occasions.

Many curious words occur in the accounts and elsewhere, a list of which will be found in the index under "Words." Some of these I have not been able to trace in any dictionary or glossary. Among these is "cawet," "cawete" or "chawet," which occurs about fifteen times.

There were eight or nine of these "cawetes" at Wells ; the Communar, the Escheator and the Clerk of Blessed Mary each had one ; there was one at St. John's altar, one at St. Stephen's altar, one in the Treasury, two in the choir, behind the high-altar, and another behind the high-altar, to keep graduals and books in. The two behind the high-altar were probably wooden cupboards, presses or ambries for the keeping of relics, plate, etc., and were very probably similar to the beautiful specimens of 15th century woodwork destroyed in the disastrous fire at Selby Abbey Church in 1906.* Those at the other two altars, the Clerk of St. Mary's, the one in the Treasury† and the one to keep books in, were no doubt of a similar nature.

But it seems clear that the Communar's and Escheator's cawetes were something different ; they could not have been mere ambries. Thus, the Communar's cawete was large enough to hold a muniment chest and a till or "exchequer," a money chest (p. 30), and he apparently sat within it to receive payments (p. 9) ; the Escheator's cawete had a window in it (p. 21). These details suggest something in the nature of inclosures forming small rooms, used for offices as well as for storage. They were probably timber-framed inclosures, parcloses, having doors and windows ; the door of the Communar's cawete opened in two sections, an upper and a lower (p. 94), a convenient arrangement if he received and paid money there. There is no indication where the Communar's and Escheator's cawetes were situated, but any vacant wall space (and there must have been plenty) would suffice.

The word itself presents great difficulties. The form "chewet" suggests some connection with the French word chevet (a diminutive from chef), which is thus defined in the Oxford Dictionary : "The French name of the apsidal termination (semicircular or semipolygonal) of the east end of a church ; particularly applied to French Gothic churches, where it is sometimes surrounded by apsidal chapels." The earliest quotation of its use by any English writer is in 1809.‡ If chevet was ever used to denote the individual apsidal chapels, rather than the whole group, it might easily be applied to any small chamber or inclosure within a church ; but I can find no instance of such use.

With great diffidence I hazard a suggestion that cawete may come from the Italian cavata or cavetto, a hollow place (a diminutive from cava). Such a word might well be applied originally to ambries hollowed out of the wall,§ as we still commonly find them in parish churches, being afterwards transferred to structures made and used for similar purposes, though not "hollows." It is singular that the word cannot be traced elsewhere, and I venture to remind the reader (again

† The recess in the thickness of the wall, mentioned by Canon Church (Early History, p. 285), may have been the cawete in the Treasury.

‡ Mr. Francis Bond, writing of the Lady Chapel at Wells, says, "There is certainly no such lovely chevet in England" ; The Cathedrals of England and Wales, 4th ed., 1912, p. 379.

A final word as to the index. The section under "Wells," in its various aspects, is so large and diversified that it was found practically impossible to put it all under one alphabet; large sub-divisions, such as Dean and Chapter, canons, dignitaries, etc., were unavoidable. It has therefore been split up into numerous independent sections, which will, it is hoped, make it easier of reference. An analytical list of these sections precedes this part of the index, which will make the arrangement quite clear. The Bishops, whether of Bath, Bath and Glastonbury, or Bath and Wells, and the Archdeacons of Bath and Taunton have also been included in the Wells section, an arrangement for which a good deal might be said, both for and against. On the whole it was felt that the balance of convenience was in favour of giving all these references under Wells, the result being that the whole of the entries relating to Bishop, bishopric and the two Archdeacons referred to will be found together, instead of having to be sought by means of cross-references.

The Dean has called my attention to an item in the first Communar's account which was omitted in the transcript because it is cancelled. After "obit of Mr. Richard Forde" (p. 4, l. 37) occurs "Obit of Mr. Robert Baldok, 43 weeks, 1*l.* 5*s.* 1*d.*" The Dean writes as follows: "A line is rudely drawn through this, and a curious story lies behind it. For Master Robert Baldok was the Lord Chancellor of England who ruined Edward II. He was prebendary of Yatton. When he was captured with Edward II in November, 1326, Bishop Drokensford at once filled up his prebend, putting in his nephew, Richard de Drokensford, whom he collated afresh when Robert Baldok's death was known in May, 1327. Thus the entry is of interest, and its cancelling of more interest still, the auditor refusing to allow it to stand in the Communar's account."

Thanks are due to the Dean and Chapter of Wells for placing their records at the disposal of the Commission, and for allowing some of the books to be sent to the Public Record Office for the convenience of preparing this Calendar.

My personal thanks are especially due to Canon Church, the Subdean, for much kindness shown to me at Wells, and

* Some analogus structures are mentioned in the Account Rolls of Westminster Abbey, under the namo of cavagium, cawagium or kawagium; see The Abbot's Housc at Westminster, by J. Armitage Robinson, D.D., Dean of Wells (1911), p. 26. Extracts are there given showing that the treasurer and cellarer had each a cavagium, and that there was another in the bakehouse. One of these had a door, as shown by the purchase of a lock and key, and was used for the storing of the cellarer's tallies; it also had a window, and its wall (paries) was daubed and plastered. The treasurer's cavagium was large enough for an entertainment to the king's servants. Dr. Robinson suggests that cavagium may be an early form of the French caige, cage, which is also said to be derived from the Latin cavus or cavea; no such form, however, is given by Littré or Godefroy.

for his ever-ready assistance in dealing with matters in which he is so well versed. The present Dean, Dr. J. Armitage Robinson, has very kindly helped with some of the early charters and rolls.

Record attached: John Cristelton, clerk of the dean and papal commissary to Hugh, vicar of Dondon, to cite defaulters detected in the dean's visitation to appear in the Lady Chapel by the cloister on Saturday next after SS. Crispin and Crispinian, and there to certify by letters what has been done. Dated Wells, xiii Kal. Nov., 1344. The names of those cited follow with their fines.

On back: On Friday after SS. Crispin and Crispinian, iiii Kal. Nov., 1344, in the cathedral appeared John Abbot of 1343-1344.

North Cory before the dean and chapter. His case prorogued to Friday after All Saints; when he appeared before Mr. Walter de Hull, archd. of Bath, and submitted himself.

Another record: Archd. W. de Hull's sentence on John Abbe, who confesses to have seized the great tithes of Winscombe, to pay 60*s.* at Wells before the feast of All Saints, under pain of greater excommunication. Published in the cathedral, Nov. 5, 1344.

[On back in French:] John Abbe owes the dean and chapter 60*s.* for the corn of Lillesdone, which he bought of Mr. Robert Baldok. This he pays in mitigation, and will pay the rest by the days assigned.

Et que dieu eies mercy de moy, jeo perdr' sur la chace xx livres.

1495, Oct. 3.—The dean [Gunthorpe], sitting in the chapter house as a tribunal, and assisted by canons Boket, Austell and Manyman, summoned before him Edmund Lascy, Baldwin House and John Trenche, altarists of the said church, to answer the charge that nearly every night [quasi singulis noctibus] they went out into the town, with swords and staves, and often stayed out of the church all night, to the pernicious scandal and grievance of the church, and he warned them that henceforward none of them go out of the church after the proper and accustomed hour. John Trenche was also charged with having a woman in adulterous embraces one night within the churchyard and with having grievously beaten a man in the churchyard with a stick ; to which charges John could make very little excuse. Sentence was postponed for the consideration of the other canons.

White denied it, but he confessed that William Apriche, servant of the bailiff of the city of Wells, had speech with him about the indictment. And because White could have prevented the indictment and did not do so [potuit impedire et non impedivit], the sub-dean declared him excommunicate, and pronounced sentence of the greater excommunication, and appointed Saturday next, Jan. 23, for him to show cause why he should not be suspended from wearing his habit, as justice demanded. On the Saturday the sacrist was absolved from the sentence of excommunication and restored to his former status. The sub-dean enjoined him that before vespers of that same day he must dismiss his servant, for his manifold and manifest offences, on pain of contempt ; further, he must labour to have peace with the said Baldwin and his relations [parentes], and must make satisfaction to them for the injuries and trespasses done to them. On the Saturday following [Jan. 30] the sacrist again appeared before the chapter, and stated that the controversies between himself and the parties aforesaid had been referred to the arbitrament of four neighbours. 1505, Nov. 4.—A lettre missyve sent to my lord of Wynchestre by the brethrin of chapitre, etc. :

Right Reverende fader in god, and to us moste singuler gode lorde, in oure mooste humble wyse we recommende us. Please it the same to understande howe that dyverse of the brethern of oure chapitre were with your officers at our myll of Northcory, and there hard the groves and complayntes which your tenauntes made. And where as it is thought by theym that our said myll shuld be the occasion of the grete floodes and drownyng of the medews, which in our myndes is not thought possible to be. Neverthelesse, to have you good lord unto us, as ye have ever beene, and also to cesse theyr clamours, we shalbe contented to lose a quarter rent, and for that tyme to cause the flood yates of our said myll to be pulled up, so that the water shal have his full course ; wherby it shal appere hereafter whether that our myll be the occasion of eny suche flodes and drownyng of the medews. And as for bote passage, your said officers knowe right well that in all the somer season the water is so lowe and so meny shelpes and bayes in the ryver betwene our myll and Taunton, that it is not possible to convey eny bote that way ; and in the wynter season the medewes be so filled and replenysshed with water, that the bootes may go over at every place, so that they shal not be lett by the myll. My lord, these thynges considered, we trust that ye wull contynue as good lord nowe unto us as yo have been beforn tyme.* And thus the holy trinite contynue you accordyng to youre noble desires. Right honorable brethern, I recommende me unto you, certifiyng you that accordyng to your mynds concluded in the chapitre, I have spoken wit my lord of Wynchestre for our myll, and have moved hym both with reasons and prayers to be good lord unto us for the said myll, but in noo wyse I can not have his lordshipp at no conclusion but that he will have downe the bay of stone made by the priour. And at one season he said he wold be content to remytt his accion, but he wold have a commission sheywers, by the reason whereof he said he was sure to have his mynde. And after my pore mynde, it were better to putt the mater into gentilmen's haundes then to laboryng men of the cuntrey, for thay do speke upon will and make a grete clamour witoute reson, as ye may knowe opynly by the copy of a bille the which I send you by my servaunt, the which my lord of Wynchestre toke me to rede; and I, in the moste haste I cowde make, caused it to be wrytten, and gave xxx*d.* therfor, to th'entent ye shuld knowe the complayntes, and also the doblenesse of the priour of Mountacu or elles of his tenauntes. Wherfor, after ye have seen this my writyng, with the copy of the complayntes, I pray you send me your mynde, howe ye wold I shuld doo, and whidder I shuld conclude uppon a commission of the sheywers or uppon gentilmen of the cuntrey, to the which I thynk it wilbe hard to be brought. And as towchyng the openyng of the floode yates, as yet I can not bryng his lordshipp to apply therto, for he seith that he will not beleve his trusty counsell in saying nay, and me nor none of us in saying soo. Wherfor, in this matier I pray you send me your myndes, and the beest I can doo possible I shal doo; and if I may, I shal cause hym to bee content to prove the experyence of the plukkyng up of the floode yates, but as yet I can not have hym at no conclusion, nor I thynk shal not tyll the season Mayster Froste be come to London, the which was not come as this day at nyght, at the which season I spake with my lord of Wynchestre, as God knoweth, who preserve you. Wrytten at London, the xiijth day of Novembre, wit the hande of your brothre,

I pray you kepe the copy of thes complayntes as secretely as ye can, for, if it were knowen that I did copy theym, it mygte paraventur turne to my rebuke.—fo. 116*d.*

A Bylle of Compleyntes.—fo. 118.

To the discrete counsaill of my lord of Wynchestre.

Shewethe unto your maystershipp the poore tenauntes of my lord of Wynchestre within the tythyng of Ruyssheton, parcell of the lordshipp of Taunton, that where tyme oute of mynde they were never accombered nor troubled in theire copyholdes by grete floodes of water of the ryver that commeth from Taunton towardes Brigewater, unto [until] nowe of late by reason of beldyng of a myll called Hammyll; for so it is, that if theyre fall eny reyne of water there, by stoppyng of the flood yates of the said myll as the floode may not passe, your said peticioners' medewes, common, and wallys of theyre howses, bee overflowen; which is and shal be, if it be not refourmed, to theyre utter undoyng, and also distruccion of theyre landes and tenauntes. And over this, by occasion of the premisses the highe wayes there aboutes be so infoundered that the poore tenauntes and inhabitantes aforesayd may nether go to there ground with horse nor cartt to mayntene there land ; For noonmayntenaunce wherof we be not able to lyve and pay oure rent. Please it your maystership to understand that it is not oute of your remembraunce that we have oftymes past complayned unto you of the annoyance aforsaid, and as yet can have no remedye. Wherfore we nowe eftsounes mekely desire your maystership tenderly to considre the premisses, and to provide for a remedye herin. And we shal dayly pray to Almygty god for the noble estate of my lord of Wynchestre and your maystership long to endure. —fo. 118*d.*

Sheweth unto your maysterships the marchauntes and othre occupiours, tenauntes and inhabitantes unto our lord bisshopp of Wynchestre of his towne of Taunton, that where we, the said tenauntes, occupiours and inhabitantes and all othre marchauntes, tenauntes and inhabitantes of the same towne, owte of tyme of mynde, in the right of our said lord, have peasably used and hadd course, recourse and free passage upon the water of Toon, Bathepolemyll and Brigewater, for all maner of marchaundyses, corne, cole, stones, and all othre stuff by us bought and sold, unto [until] the tyme a mylle called Hammyll, which of tyme paste was arresed and newe made by the priour of Mountacu and the deane and chapitre of Wellys, by reason wherof your said peticioners bee stopped and letted of there said cariages, soo that in defaute therof in the wynter season we can have no cariage, the wayes be soo foundred by overflowyng of the water. Wher[as] if the said mylles hadde not be made, we shuld have hadde our cariages by water, and that in every ton better chepe by ij*s.* then the cariage is to cary it by land, to our grete charge, losse and hyndrances for lakk of conveying of oure marchandyse and stuff, and meny tymes of our premysses to suche persons as we bye and sell with, for lakk of cariage, by occasion aforsaid. Wherfore it will please your maysterships, in the way of charitie, to provide for the refourmacion of the premisses, and we shal pray for the prosperitee aswell of our said lord as of your said maysterships, long to endure.—fo. 119.

Pytuously complayneth unto your maysterships the poore men duellyng nygh adjoynaunt to Hammyll, that where we be sore greved by reson of the same mylle, that is to say, our medewes, called Newe Medewes and Nate Medewes, and diverse othre our pastures, certayn grene corne, our hay, ofttymes drowned, our highwayes foundered, wherby we have been grevously amerced in the shire and soore troubled ; the fordes depe worne, wherthoroughe we be sore charged to make a brigge for weynes and horses, every twoo or thre yere to be newe mended and made ; oure bestes standyng in water, withoute mete ; our corne and hay to stand long afeld, till it be almoste lost by cause we can have no good cariage home. And we have paied the moste parte of oure goodes for oure places, and nowe we can take but litil profite therof. And oftentymes we have spoken therof in our courte, and can have no remedy. And we understand your maystership have auctorite to enquere of all maner hurtes and greves done by occasion of the same mylle. Wherfor we beseche your maistership, in the wey of charite, to have pite upon us, and to be our socour for reformacion herof, orelles we must nedes forsake our places, to our uttre undoynge. And we shal pray to god to send you long life after his pleasure.—fo. 119*d.*

Please it your good lordship to understand that, accordyng to your commaundement, Maistre Thesaurer, Maister Mylle and I, at our late beyng at Tau[n]ton, met with my lord Tinens, Maister Symoundes and Doctor Tomyowe, of the churche of Wellys, and the stuard of the priour of Mountacu, at Hammylle; and ther was with us of your towne of Taunton Sir Thomas Greynefeld, Maister Newton, and meny of the moost honest merchauntes and tenauntes of your towne and lordship of Taunton, and also diverse of the abbot of Glastonbury tenauntes of the forsaid priour of Mountacu tenauntes, which be sore greved and annoyed by occasion of the said mylle, as your lordship may perceyve by the copyes of the billes of complaynte abovesaid, which were putt unto us before we mette at the said mylle; all which parties complaynauntes were there with us, and shewod unto theym of Welles there greves, as apperoth in there said billes, and offered theymself to bo sworne upon a boke, that there complayntes were true, etc. Wherupon we viewede the grounde, the water and the floode yates and bay of stone rered by the said priour, which be the cause of the said nusanz. And the forsaid personnes of Wellys cowde not denye but that your tenauntes of Taunton can have no passage wit botes by that mylle to Brigewater, as they ought to have, nor in maner denye but by the makyng of the said bay of stone and floode yates the water, when floodes bee, overflowen the grounde adjoynyng. And after long communicacion betwene us of the premisses hadd, they of the churche of Welles appoynted wit us to common wit me of their company and before Alhalowctyde to send writyng unto your lordshipp what direction they will take for refourmacion of the nusanses forsaid, which wilbe as in your myndes full hard to doo, oonlesse the said baye and floode yates be utterly take awaye and amoved from the growne of the water. And if by the meanes of your good lordship it may be soo doen, ye shal not oonly doo grete good to your owne tenauntes, but also unto meny othre, and have their prayers for ever. For undoubtedly, and this be not refourmed, ye shal have grete losse in Ruysshton, for their bee nowe dyverse tenementes liyng in your handes, and no man will fyne for theym, etc. And also, ever sithe their Hammyll was made, ye have lost ij*s*. rent of a were that ye hadde there, etc. —fos. 120*d*., 121.

I have apoynted wit Maistres Hugons that, if she have eny othre writyng concernyng the premisses, she to send it to London to hir counsayll, and they to awayte upon your lordshipp, to shewe it. 1506, April 3.—Copy of the lettre myssyve sent fro Master Beamount, archidiacon of Welles, to the brethern of the chapitre :

After due recommendacion, so it is that upon Monday, the last day of Aprile [sic], Mr. deane and I spake wit my lord of Wynchestre. The cause why we spake wit hym no soner was for his beyng at his manier of Assher, wher he gave ordres on Passion Sonday eve. When we hadde moved hym in suche matiers as we come for, we found hym somwhate roughe, sayng that he was dyvers tymes mysenformed by us, and that the king on the oon partie suffred wrong by reason of the stoppyng of his commyn streme, and also that his tenauntes were grevously hurt by the reson of our myll ; wit as soft maner and wordes as we cowde, [we] pacified his mynde for the tyme. The morne after we were wit hym ayen, and then he shewed us howe it was reason for hym aswell to yeve credence unto his counsell as to us, and that he wolde speke wit theym in the cause. Neverthelesse he yave us gentil and kynde wordes, lyke a nobleman, but as yet we have not our fynall answere. Ye wolde wondre what causes he hathe to do, and therfore we muste abyde hys leysere.

As to Mr. Hatton, we have not as yete spoken wit hym, but have dyverse tymes sought hym and also made messyngers unto hym, which have spoken wit hym ; and as we can understand, he purposeth to couple us wit the kinge's counsell in this matier, whiche we wolle avoyde, and if we can, to the best of our powers. We have moved my lord of Wynchestre in this cause, and he will not moche melle [meddle] theryn, because it toucheth the king. Hys mynde is, we shulde not be hasty upon the said Doctor Hatton, but to take hym at tymes convenyent, and to handle hym as wysely as we can.—fo. 126*d.*

We have in lykwyse made serche in the chancery for the ammortysement of Alverton, and as yet we can not fynd it. The vj clerkes of the said chauncerye be so besyed in the kinge's causes that they can attend to no pore men ; yet I assure you, by there licence Humfrey, my servaunt, hadd a sight of oon boke ab anno vjto Henrici sexti usque annum xviij ejusdem.

Ye must pardon us, thoughe we can make no parfite answere to you at this tyme. And thus our lord spede both you and us. Written at London, this Friday, third of Aprile.

From Welles, iiijth day of Maye.

* Translation doubtful. The word following clericus, apparently cacii, looks like an abbreviation for caccarii, genitive of caccarium. No such word, however, can be traced. The suggestion is hazarded that the word was formed from scaccarium by omitting the initial s, to denote a difference between exchequer and chequer or check. An officer of the royal household was known as clerk of the check or chequer, and the dean and chapter of Wells may have adopted this name just as they adopted the royal "exchequer" with its "baron."

1506, May 30.—Copy of the lettre myssyve sent to Mr. Richard Hatton by the chapitre.

After due recommendacion, so it is that John Ustwayte, coexecutour wit you unto the right honorable Maister John Gunthorp, whose sowle god pardon, sheweth unto us howe that the kinge's grace demaundeth of you and hym CC markes for the benyvolence, accordyng as ye have written unto us afore tyme, and that neythre ye nor he can fynd remedye or discharge for the same. Wherupon he thynketh that the kinge's grace will have this money contented unto hym, or elles that by your meanes ye may fall to some compromysse wit the commissioners for the same. And by cause, as ye bothe afferme that ye have disposed [of] the goodes of the same Maister Gunthorpe, and have not to content or to paye any suche sommes of money of his goodes left or remaynyng in your handes, the said John Ustwayte with good mynde hath instantly moved us that we wold be contributorie unto the payement of the same by parte of suche lyvelode as the said Maister Gunthorpe gave and amortesyed unto our churche. Maister doctor, this it is. We knowe well and considre the good and feithfull mynde of this honorable man departed, howe he purchased this lyvelode, and therupon for the helth of his soule, at his grete labour and coste, and, by reason of a certeyn graunte made unto us by the kinge's grace, sufficiently amortesied the same, as we have to shewe by our writynges. Neverthelesse, as the said John Ustwayte hathe amoved us, seyng that ye have not of his goodes to content the kinge's grace, but that ye must levy hit of suche londes as he left to his kynfolkes and yave unto us, we must for a season surcesse of suche suffrage as we dayly doo for hym, and so to take a porcion yerly of his said lyvelode towardes the payment of the same somme, and the remanent to remayne for his masse and obite. Sir, we trust, considerynge the grete mynde and favour he hadde unto you, remembryng also ye bee oon of the brethern of our churche, that ye will take of the same lyvelode for the tyme as litle as ye may ; and thus orderyng yourselfe, we shalbe as gladde to folowe your mynde as ye shal desire us. Prayng you that ye will yeve credence to our brethern, berers herof, in that they shal move unto you in our behalf, to whome we yeve full auctorite to conclude with you for this matier and other we have to do. And thus Jhesu have you in his blissed kepyng. At Welles, the xxxti day of May.

Dominus Midensis [Dominus Hugo Yng, episcopus Meden' —interlined], prebend of Estharptre, appointed Mr. T. Tomyoo, archdeacon of Bath, Peter Carsleghe, Roger Churche, Thomas Goldwege, John Bekham and John Edmundes, canons residentiary, his proctors in all matters relating to chapters or the visitations of the bishop.—fo. 206*d.*

1513, July 6.—Mr. Robert Hill, M.A., admitted master of the schools, on taking the oath of canonical obedience to the dean and chapter.

The chapter proceeded to the choice of a vicar of St. Cuthbert's, Wells, vacant by the death of Thomas Cornyssh, bishop of Tine. Mr. William Mors, canon residentiary, and Mr. John Calveley, M.A., were the candidates. Calveley was chosen by a majority, the dean not voting. On being asked whom he wished to be nominated, the dean said he would not then nominate, and adjourned the chapter to the next day, those who had voted for Calveley objecting. The dean, Thomyoo, Goldwege and Mors then withdrew, the others remaining and sitting there as a chapter [capitulariter]. And since the dean, before he went away, had been required by Mr. Reynold West to declare Mr. Calveley, as duly nominated by a majority of the chapter, to be presented to the vicarage, and he had not done so and had de facto refused to do so ; wherefore, after his [the dean's] going, Mr. West then remaining with other four, Masters Carsleghe, Yng, Churcho and Bekham ; and West, then holding the place of president, declared Calveley to be presented to the said vicarage by the consent of the dean and chapter, because he was nominated by a majority of the chapter. And thereupon the said sub-dean [West], in the names of himself and the other four, required Mr. Churche, the vicar-general in spirituals of the bishop, to admit Calveley as rightly presented, whenever he should come to him ad hoc et instaret ad dictam vicariam.—fo. 207.

Ordered that he must paint a king not yet painted in front of the door of the choir, at once [incontinenter], and if he shall not be indicted in the king's court before Michaelmas next or the following term, then he shall paint another king not yet painted. He was further warned to abstain from the house and society of the woman, under pain of being deprived of his chantry. Reynold West, the sub-dean, objected.—fo. 208*d.*

1513, Aug. 30.—Mr. Thomas Wulcy admitted a canon, and installed by proxy in the prebend of Compton Dunden.—fo. 208.

1513, Sept. 3.—Sir William God was charged with incontinence with a woman called Alice Knytter. He denied it, but confessed the rumour and submitted to correction. Ordered that on Sunday next, the feast of the Nativity of the B.V.M., and on the Sunday following, he must go before the cross in the procession, with a taper in his hand. At his humble request the penance was changed, and he was ordered to paint the image of St. Michael, together with the tabernacle, before Michaelmas next.—fo. 209.

1513, Sept. 6.—Grant to William Mors, canon residentiary, of the canonical house now vacant by the death of Mr. Thomas Goldwege, paying the accustomed rent to the escheator.—fo. 208.

Mr. John Bekham presented to the vicarage of the parish church of Cheddre, vacant by the death of T. Goldwege.—fo. 208*d.*

The dean and canons, in the presence of me, Thomas Roger, in decretis baccalarius, of the diocese of Canterbury, notary public by apostolic authority, their scribe then assumed, unanimously nominated Master Robert Williamson, notary public by apostolic authority and their scribe, then absent, to the parish church of Shepham, vacant by the death of Mr. Thomas Goldwege, the last rector ; and they have asked me, the said notary, to insert and make mention of this act, which I have done, with my hand and sign manual.

1513, Sept. 30.—John Gaylard admitted a perpetual vicar.

1513, Nov. 6.—Mr. Thomas Lovell, decretorum doctor, prayed to be admitted a canon residentiary. But because Mr. Roger Churche, vicar general in spirituals of the bishop, in the last ordinarial visitation, on Oct. 30, 1511, with the consent of the canons then present and resident and of the other canons by their proctors, had agreed and appointed among themselves that no canon should be admitted to residence in the cathedral church unless he could expend clear 40*l.* apart from his prebend and dignity and the income and emoluments of the cathedral ; moreover it was then and there agreed and appointed among themselves that in case a canon so admitted to residence can expend clear 40*l.* apart, etc., that then he may have, if he can get it [si habere potest], a house of his own out of these canonical houses following, used and accustomed for canons residentiary, viz. a house in the public market, now belonging to Mr. John Chamber, the treasurer, or in one of the houses where Masters John Edmundes, Peter Carsleghe, Thomas Austell, Reynold West, William Mors, Edmund Mille, Robert Gumby, John Bekham, Thomas Tomyoo, Hugh Yng, Roger Churche, and Thomas Goldwege, canons residentiary, now [i.e. in 1511] live, and not any other house in the town nor in any other place ; as more fully appears in the acts of the visitation.—fo. 210*d.*

And immediately Mr. Lovell said that, as to the first statute, on the word of a priest he could well expend 40*l.*, apart, etc., and as to a house, he said that he had a house, but it was not his own, but they waived this point in his case [sed cum prefato magistro Thoma Lovell super suam propriam domum dispensarunt]. He thereupon paid his caution money of 100 marks, and the dean, with the consent of his brethren, admitted him a canon residentiary.—fo. 211.

1513, Nov. 11.—The dean exhibited an apostolic bull and caused it to be read by Mr. Robert Williamson, the scribe of the chapter acts. And immediately Reynold West, the sub-dean, asked for a copy, and the dean granted it.—fo. 211*d.*

1513, Nov. 21.—Mr. James FitzJames, M.A., admitted a canon, and installed by proxy in the prebend of Cudworth, vacant by the death of Mr. T. Goldwege.

1513, Dec. 1.—A reward of 13*s.* 4*d.*, issuing out of Byconaller, granted to Richard Byktom [?] of Crokham, gent., for his labour in soliciting matters for the chapter at Ilchestre.

Tomyoo, Reynold West, Peter Carsleghe, Roger Churche, John Bekham, John Edmundes, William Mors and Robert Gumby, shall pay 20*s.* out of his residence for that year towards the defence of a controversy between Mr. William Cousyn, the dean, and the above-named canons, touching the dean's mode of residing in that year [de modo residendi ejusdem decani in illo anno].—fo. 212.

Agreed further that a letter shall be composed in their names and sealed with the common seal of the chapter, to be sent to the Roman curia, for their defence against the dean, etc.

Mr. Reynold West, sub-dean, appointed Masters Carsleghe, Churche, Bekham and Lovell, his proctors in all causes concerning the chapter.

Grant to Richard Ronyon of a yearly fee of 13*s.* 4*d.* to be paid by the communar at the time when the sessions are held at Wells.

Mr. H. Hervy shall not receive his fee until he pay 6*s.* 8*d.* he has retained.

1513–4, Jan. 3.—Mr. Roger Churche is chosen steward of the cathedral church and of the chapter for one year, beginning on the morrow of Michaelmas last.—fo. 213.

Mr. John Bekham to be assistant to the steward for that year; he shall have all days when he is occupied on the business of the steward for the use of the chapter. He shall be steward in the year following.

He who is assistant to the steward during one year shall be steward during the following year; and so from year to year.

With regard to the dean's residence for the past year, the canons neither consent nor dissent.

1513–4, Jan. 7.—John Gaylard, vicar choral, has license to be absent from matins, except on festival days, until the annunciation of B.V.M. next, on condition that he teach the choristers to sing.—fo. 212*d.*

1549, Nov. 20.—Letters patent of the president and chapter. Inasmuch as by an Act of Parliament of 1 Edw. VI a new deanery was established at Wells ; and whereas the deans of earlier date enjoyed only the quotidians of one canon resident, and that only during the dean's eight months of residence, and also the quotidians of the dean only, viz. 16*d.* a day, but the said act allots to the dean the quotidians of the dean, of the archdeacon of Wells, and of the prebendary of Curry, which quotidians are 3*s.* 4*d.* a day, viz. 1*s.* 4*d.* for the dean, 1*s.* 4*d.* for the archdeacon, and 8*d.* for the prebendary, to be enjoyed as well when absent as when resident ; which act was passed without the knowledge of the chapter, and to their great detriment. Therefore the president and chapter now appoint three of the canons residentiary, George Carew, George Dogeon and Walter Cretyng, to petition the king, council, lords and commons at this time in Parliament assembled, for the redress of the said grant of three quotidians to the dean.—fo. 32*d.*

The petition of the chapter.

In it they complain that the act of 1 Edw. VI was procured by the dean, John Goodman, and his friends, without the knowledge of the chapter ; that over and above the aforesaid quotidians. the deanery is endowed with the archdeaconry, the sub-chantership, the prebend of Curry and the provostship ; that the quotidians come out of the canons' portions, so that they can no longer "keep such hospitality to the reliefe of the poore as in time past hath always been used."—fo. 33*d.*

earnestlie as we cane, to require youe to see this faulte amended, and to have a dewe regarde that the anciente order, appointinge in all cathedrall churches certen usuall and solempne chapter daies for suche purposes, maie be herafter inviolablie observed, and noe suche grauntes or confirmacions passe but [at] those times onlie, when all your resident prebendaries shalbe presente and yelde ther consent therto, in more orderlie sorte then thorowghe your negligence hathe been hertofore accustomed. And soe, desiringe youe hereof in anie wise not to faile, [we] bid youe farwell. From Woodstocke, the ixth of September, anno 1575.

To our lovinge frindes the deane, sub-deane and chapter of Bath and Wellz.—[Ledger F, fo. 28.]

1575, Sept. 9.—After our hartie commendacions to your lordship. Amongeste sondrie disorders imputed to the clergie of this realme, wherby yt ys supposed that the worde of God ys not soe duelie preached for the instruccion of men's sooles and reformacion of ille manners as it owghte, this is thoughte not to be the leaste, that withowte consideracion of the learninge and honestie of the parties presented, indifferentlie all men are admitted by the ordinaries to places of the ministeries, which are farr unfitt and unable to discharge the same. And althoughe we colde wishe that in everie parishe of this realme this faulte wer amended, and more regarde had to the qualities and sufficiency of the persons to be receaved into that function then generallie hathe benne heretofore : yet, seinge all cannot be at once reformed, wee thinke yt not fitt in anie wise that suche an abuse shoulde crepe into anie cathedrall churche of this realme, appointed by the founders to be colleges and conventz of grave and lerned men and such as hadd taken degree in schole and were able accordinge to their place and callinge to preach trewe and sownde doctryn. And therfor we have thowght convenient befor hand to geve yow warninge therof, that none be by yow admitted to be prebendaries residentiaries in that your church which shall not be well knowen in doctrin and lif to be mete for the same ; and further, in degree of schole to be at the least a master of arte or bacheler of divinitie or lawe. And so are we enformed that, by an auncient order from the late kinge Henry the viijth of famous memorye, yow were appoynted to admitt persons thus qualified, and none elles, which godlie and politicke order, discontinewed perhaps for a time by negligence, we thinke worthie to be revived amongeste youe, and therfore shall desire your lordship that, bothe for the better advauncemente of God's glorie, and for the reputacion of your churche, yt maie be inviolably observed and continewed still, as wee truste yt shall. And so [we] bid your good lordship righte hartelie farwell. Frome Woodstocke, the ixth of September, 1575.

1575, Oct. 11.—S.P. in domino Jesu. As I was ever to hope well of your particuler good willes, for the sondrie courtesies receaved at your handes, soe ys it almoste a yere sithence your generall frendlie affections appered towardes me by settinge downe your handes to a decree for my residence in your churche, befor anie other man, and at what time I convenientlie maie come amongest youe. And albeit I take myselfe muche beholden unto youe all for the substance of the benefitt that maie growe therby, yet I ever did, and doe still, make greater accounte of the opportunitie which it liked you by common consente to referr unto me withowt limitacion, wherin I minde not [to] abuse your gentillnes, soe beinge geven to understande that a rumour hathe benn uncerteynlie spred, but certenlie beleved, that I have latlie yelded the commoditie of that entrance unto another: I coulde not eyther in discrecion or honestie but bothe signifie my purpose to be farr from anie suche meaninge, and praie withall the continuance of your frendshipes all, that I maie with effecte reape the frute of that order taken, wherunto I shall, God willinge, with as good spede enhable mysealfe as possiblie I maie ; and had ere this tendred my caution amonge youe, had I not bothe bene distitute of an howse and bene driven to susteine greater extraordinarie charges then eyther I loked for or am well able to spare. Wherof I trust youe will have suche consideracion that noe man lesse worthie, thoughe more readie, then I, shall slilie prevente eyther my purpose or your promise: for, assure your selves, youe shall bestowe that place uppon noe man in this lande that shalbe more willinge to his power then I am, eyther more diligentlie to teache the people, ore more sufficientlie to spende that I have, or mor quietlie to live amonge my brethren, or more carefullie to kepe that churche in the state I finde hit, wherin I had a greate parte of mine educacion, and wherto I holde myselfe moste depelie bounden. And even soe referringe all other circumstances to your grave consideracion, with my manie most hartie thankes, I betake my cause to your constancie, my selfe to your commaundementes, and youe all to God. Sarum, xj° Octobris, 1575.

Your w. assured in Christ,
TOBIE MATHEWE.

To the right worshipfull, my verie loving frindes, Mr. subdeane and the chapter of the cathedral churche of Wellz.—[Ledger F, fo. 29*d.*]

1575, Oct. 24.—The members of the chapter give their opinions separately upon the case of Mr. Newton. Mr. John Rugge and Mr. William Austin say "that forasmuche as there was read in the chapter by Mr. Philip Bisse, the sub-dean, an acte whereby Mr. Carewe was admitted into residence by letters of recommendation from King Henrye the eighte to the dean and chapter directed, they thinke that it is in dewtye belonginge to the chapter yeven so to think of Mr. Newton, [he] being likewise recommended by the queene's magestie."—fo. 6*d.*

Mr. Philip Bisse, Adrian Hawthorne, Thomas Baylie and Walter Bower "do saye that they will deliberat for his admission untill it be knowen or considered what efficacye or force the statute of Kinge Henrye the eighte, of famouse memorye, is touchinge that matter; and further, forasmuch as Mr. Jurye and Mr. FitzJames were admitted accordinge to the saide statute, as appeareth by the severall acts of their admission, they thinke that Mr. Carewe beinge admitted shortlye after them and recommended to the chapter by the king's letters, the chapter was dispenside withall touchynge that statute made to the contrarye in that behalf, and therefore they doe still thinke that the saide statute doth stand and remaine in his full force and strength, and that they stand bounde by othe to observe the same."—fo. 7.

They all agree "towchinge Mr. Secretarye Wallsingeham his letters, that it is requisite that his honour's said letters be answered and satisfied."

1575, Dec. 26.—The chapter determine that Mr. Secretary Walsingham's letters shall be answered with as much expedition as may be, and for answer to Mr. Newton refer to the answer which they have sent to the privy council and to the secretary; "and further they thinke the chapter was dispensed withall, towchyng th'admission of Mr. Carewe."

1575, Dec. 26.—Protest by John Rugge against the admission of Prebendaries William Jones, LL.D., and Henry Slocombe, M.A., to residence in the cathedral, "for that her majestie's lettres in the favour and behoof of Mr. Sampson Newton to be admitted canon residenciary in the same cathedral churche be not yet satisfied . . . and further for that wee have an injunction from my Lorde of Bathe, that we shall not have above the number of eighte residents, which is not dissolved, nor by his lordshipe dispensed with."—fo. 7*d.*

My good frindes and bretheren, I am glad to understande of the good discretion you used in stayinge of grauntes and leases att this your last chapter daye, thoughe for my owne parte I was persuaded that you would suffer nothinge to passe contrarie to the institucion of the churche, to generall prejudice of yourselves and successors. Yett to prevent the suspition that ys generallie conceaved of all churchmen, and to satisfie the present clamor that was made to her majestie, perticularlie the determinacion of this late chapter, I imparted unto you frindely myne advise. And what as then I thoughte most fitt to bee performed by you, I doe understande, by your letters and by the acttes of that last chapter daye, what due care and consideracion eache of you had thereof. Since Mr. Do. Boorne's repair hither with your letters and the coppie of the acttes, I imparted the contenttes of all to my lo. grace of Canterbury [Whitgift], to my lo. treasorer [Sir John Fortescue], and to Mr. vicechamberlayne [Hatton]. All they commended the due respecte you had of her majestie's pleasure, signified by me, and have willed me to keepe due correspondence with you, promisinge to bee ayding and assistinge to us in all due courses to the benifitt of our churche. Unyon amonge our selves maketh God and the world to favor our causes. Lett us soe continue.

I did acquaint their honors in like manner of the staye that was particularlie made of the confirmacion of the chauncellorshipp, thoughe the same was recommended by my lo. grace, by my lo. treasorer, and by the lo. cheife baron; soe did the staye of the confirmacion of the bayleyweek of Wells to Mr. Thomas Purefie, and of the receavorshipp to William Bowreman and to Thomas Godwyn, thoughe the same weare graunted before for as manie lives. Whereuppon, their honors, judgeing ytt to harde a course to inhibite the confirmacion of such usuall graunttes, permitted me to give my assente to suche as I would bee answerable to be agreable to the institucion of our churche, streightlie chargeing me not, for anie man's letters, to infringe the same; for that yett was her majestie's pleasure, that I should have an especiall care to mayntaine the state of the churche whole and entire. Whereuppon, my lo. grace especiallie recomendinge Mr. Boorne, I promised to confirme his pattent, and soe the other two pattentes he surrendred to bee assigned over to others att my lo. busshopp's disposicion and youres. Thus much I thought good to give you notice of, to th'ende Mr. Archedeacon of Taunton and Mr. Doctor Cottyngton, according to my former power given to them, may enacte and enrigester my consent thereto.

And soe, redie to assist you in all I may, I commend your dealinges and myne to the direccion of th'allmightie. In hast. Winsore.—[Ledger F, fo. 126.]

1601–2, Feb. 19.—Dean Herbert to the sub-dean and the chapter.

I understand by Mr. Doctor Bisse that yow are desirous, in respect of the charges yow are like to be at this yeare, to have my consent to certaine graunts that yow have alredy considered of among your selves, and I thinck it maye be fitly done, without prejudice to any. The first is that the lease at Stogommer, which at my last being with yow was grauntcd for 21 yeares, maie be exchaunged uppon some new increase of a fine into the terme of three lyves. To the which I willingly assent. So doe I in like manner for a new lease of Westmere to be made for three lives uppon surrender of his graunt for yeares, ycldiug such fine as yow shall in your discretion thinke convenient. And towching the graunt yow have made of Canon Barne, though in some respect I could have wished yow had made longer staye, yet seing yow thought it convenient soe to doe, I will not impugne the same, but yeld my consent to that yow have done. And withall seing yow have determined to pleasure Mr. Upton therein, as your good neighbour, I can well approve that, considering he hath many yeares to come of the lease of his howse, and hath ben at great charges in repayring therof, that yow enlarge the graunt of his howse to as many yeares as yow shall thinke convenient. And as towching the exchange and altering of the terme of 21 yeares made of the rectory of Lavington to Mr. Doctor Cottington, seing he is a member of our bodie, I doe well approve the same be made for three lives, as beneficiall as yow maie. Wheras the rev. father in God, the bishop of Landaffe [Francis Godwin], by his letters missive, bearing date the viijth day of Januarie, a.d. 1604, hath signefied unto the deane and chapter of this churche that not longe since William Moore and the widow Sarney passed throughe Chepstowe towards Ragland. And he the said rev. father, suspecting that to be the cause of their jorney which now appeareth, made inquirie after them the best he could. But they carryed their busynesses so closeley as that he could not come to perfect notice of anie thing. But that the deane and chapter maye be able to guesse at their arrand as well as him selfe. Wherupon he signified that Walter Powell, mencioned in their letters formerly sent unto him the said rev. father, is a priest ordered in Queene Marie's daies, and being somtymes beneficed in this diocese of Landaff gave over his lyvinge some thirtye yeres since, contynewinge all this space a recusant. And for manie yeres before his comynge thither, hath ben accompted a comon masse-monger. All which notwithstanding, doe what he can, he contyneweth these courses. But he hopeth er longe to have order for him and other of his sort. And this is all he can certifie the chapter concerning this matter, the consideracion whereof he comytted to the chapter; etc.

Now upon the receipt and perusing of the said letter, the deane and chapter of Wells aforesaid, in regard that the said William More, one of the vicars-chorall of the cathedrall church of Wells, confessed in open chapter, as appeareth by act made in court, that he was marryed by the said Walter Powell to Mary Sarney, widow; and for as muche as yt appereth to the said deane and chapter that this foresaid marriage thus made doth conteyne in yt certen evident breaches against the order and locall statutes and the jurisdiction of the said cathedral churche, and also semeth to conteyne in yt certen matters of greater qualitie against the politicall lawes of this kingdome then apperteyne to their censure,—the said deane and chapter, reserving to them selves their said jurisdiction ecclesiasticall of this cathedrall church, thought good to referr the said breaches of the politicall lawes, by waie of notice, to the lord bisshop of Bathe and Wells, as a justice of peace of this countie, and that under their scale of office.—fo. 178*d.*

Mr. Crichton also produced letters from the king, dated February 19, which were read and discussed, together with the royal letters in favour of Mr. Abbott and that part of the charter or letters patent dealing with the election of canons resident. The dean proposed the election of Mr. Crichton, and protested that he was bound by virtue of the charter and in obedience to the royal letters to propose him, and he could not and ought not to propose any other.—fos. 140*d*, 141.

Dr. Wood protested that for his part he was ready to elect Mr. Abbott in obedience to the royal letters formerly sent, and he believed that according to the charter, statutes and customs of the church and the royal letters, they were bound [necesse est] to propose him for election ; et casu quo nulla esset differentia inter dictos Magistros Abbott et Crichton, se paratissimum esse pro electione dicti Magistri Crichton . . . exhiberet.

Dr. Revett and Dr. Godwyn agreed with him in all respects.

The dean declared that neither by the charter, statutes, nor by the customs of the church, were they bound to propose Mr. Abbott. The said canons then appealed to the charter or letters patent, statutes and customs of the church, submitting themselves further in that behalf to the royal will.—fo. 141*d*.

The dean demanded a transcript of so much of the charter as concerned elections of this kind, the transcript to be signed by the dean and chapter. The canons agreed to direct their actuary to make the transcript and to sign it.

1632–3, March 13.—The dean, by virtue of the letters patent and in obedience to the royal letters last sent, again proposed Mr. Crichton as a canon resident. He was elected, but his admission and the receipt of his caution money were deferred to the next general chapter.—fos. 142, 143.

1633, April 1.—John Tompson, vicar of Castlecary, suspended for not appearing when cited.

Robert Reason, rector of Otterhampton, and Richard Powell, rector of Spaxton, were also suspended for non-appearance ; the latter paid on April 30.

Mr. Robert Crichton, the treasurer, tendered his caution money of 100*l.*, and prayed to be admitted as canon resident. —fo. 144.

Valentine Powell, notary public, appeared for Mr. Abbott, who was, he said, an old man and so much hindered at present by weighty business that he could not attend this chapter ; he tendered 100*l.* caution money, and humbly prayed, for the first, second and third time, instanter, instantius et instantissime, that Mr. Abbott be proposed, admitted and elected a canon resident.

The dean declared that the election of Mr. Crichton on March 13 last was void. He then proposed Mr. Crichton anew, and he was elected [Dr. Wood apparently dissenting] ; he was not to begin his residence or to take any benefit before October 1 next.—fo. 144*d.*

Bartholomew Cox, the chapter clerk, with the consent and approbation of the dean and chapter, appointed Tristram Towse, notary public, to write the chapter acts, etc., and to receive for his own use the salary belonging to the office, except the pension paid by the chancellor, Towse paying over to Cox one third of the fees received by him and indemnifying Cox against any act done by Towse.—fo. 145.

Dr. Richard Adams appointed steward for two years.

Whereas our late deere father, King James of blessed memorie, was pleased by his letters to recommend unto you Edward Abbott, chiefe chantour of that church, to be chosen residentiarie there, since which time our selfe likewise have been gratiously pleased to write our letters to you in favor of him for that purpose; notwithstanding all which, we understand he hath not yet obtained anie place of resident there. We have thought good, by this our speciall letters, to lett you knowe that although we lately thought fitt that Robert Crighton should be preferred before the said Abbott, it was neither of dislike of the person of the said Abbott, nor of opinion of anie disability or unfitnes in him, but because you then certified us that the residentiaryshipp then voyde did, by the expresse wordes of our charter, belong to the treasurershipp of that church, which we had then bestowed upon the said Crighton. Now forasmuch as we hold the said Edward Abbott verie fitt for that preferment, and to the end he may be noe longer delayed, we are now againe gratiously pleased to recommend him unto you to be chosen into the next residentiary place in that church which shall become voyde, uppon the death, surrender or other avoydance of anie prebend residentiary, at large there, according to the custome of that church, which we doe the more earnestly requier you because the former letters written in favor of him have bene heretofore without successe. We doubt not of your conformity to this our pleasure, both in regard of this our princely recommendation and of the merittes of the said Edward Abbott, wherein you shall doe a service verie acceptable to us. Provided alwaies, and our will and pleasure is, that this shall be noe prejudice nor wronge to anie dignity in that church which now hath a residentiaryshipp annexed to it. Other articles related to a dispute between his wife and Mrs. Frances Powell as to a seat in the choir ; to irreverent behaviour to Dr. Godwin " in the staires neere the chapter doore " ; to leaving the church before the sermon, which he admitted, but only when he was ill.

To the eighth article he answered " that he did not weare a civill hood untill he was a Mr. of artes of fower yeares standing, and since that he hath worne one, which he beleeveth he may doe by the privilidges of the university of Cambridge, wheare he tooke his degree." He was willing to discontinue it if the dean and canons " doe dislike therewith," etc. He and his wife were ordered to confess their faults before the dean and chapter and the vicars-choral. 1633–4, Feb. 11.—To the right honourable Lord Coventry, lord keeper of his Majestie's greate seale of England.

The humble peticion of the deane and chapter of the cathedrall church of Wells.

Right honourable and our very good lord,

Whereas one John Budge of London, stationer, by his last will and testament, dated December 26, anno domini 1625, gave divers legacies to good uses, amongst which he gave 200*li.* for the maintenance of a lecture or sermon to be preached every Satturday in the yeare in the upper church of the citty of Welles in the county of Somerset, called St. Andrewe's in Welles, at the discrecion of the lord bishopp and deane for the time being. But by reason of divers charges brought in uppon accompt by the executors, there could be reccaved from the Chamber of London only 150*li.*, and about the charge of neere twenty poundes hath ben already expended, as alsoe future charge to come; soe that the legacy being much diminished, it is impossible that such a lecture as the donor intended should be maintayned.

We, the deane and chapter, being desirous that soe pious a worke might be in some part performed, according to the proportion of mayntenance left, doe become earnest sutors unto your lordshipp that we, the said deane and chapter, may have the remainder of the said legacie committed to our charge by your lordshipp's decree in the high court of chancery, and in consideracion hereof, if your honour shall thinke fitt, wee will be ready to performe eight sermons every yeare, either by ourselves, the deane and cannons residentiary, or by our lawfull deputies for the same; and if the said number of sermons shall not be performed accordingly, we will be willing to give such assurance as your honour shall thinke fitt, to repay such sommes as we shall receave into the hands of the lord bishopp of Bath and Wells and deane of the same church for the time beinge, to the end that the said number of dayes may be performed by some others.

Your honour's ever readie to be commaunded.

George Warburton, dean.
Gerard Wood.
Timothy Revet.
Paul Godwin.

The dayes which we desire, if it shall be thought fit by your lordship, for we have no sermons on these dayes, are these: All Saintes, St. Andrew, Epiphany, Purificacion, Annunciacion, Ashwensday, Good Fryday, Ascention.—[Ledger G, p. 205.]

1633–4, Feb. 11.—Sir Francis Windebanke to the dean and chapter.

His majesty, haveing lately directed his letters to you in favor of Mr. Edward Abbott to be preferred to the next place of resident that should become voyde in that church, and haveing since understood that there is now lately a place become voyde there by the death of Dr. Adams, who was heretofore elected to that residentiaryshipp when Mr. Abbott should of right have succeeded in that place, hath bene pleased to command me to signify his pleasure to you expressly for avoyding of all further competition, and to the end that Mr. Abbott may noe longer be delayed, that you forthwith chose and admitt the said Edward Abbott, and noe other, to that place of resident in that church now voyde by the death of the said Mr. Adams, to be enjoyed by him with all profittes

Lessee to do suit of court twice a year at Cannon Barne, and not to assign or underlet to any person "but unto such as shall first put in sufficient securitie unto the said deane and chapter and their successors, to keepe the said deane and chapter and their successors freely exonerated and discharged from all charge of such men, women and children as may be onerous and troublesome to them and their libertie of the said cathedrall church"; and shall not keep there "any noysome cattell or swyne or horse or geese, or any such like, to the anoyance or disturbance of the church, neither shall build or make any prevy or such noisome howse neere unto the cathedrall church or canonicall howse aforesaid."—[Ledger G, p. 213.]

Mrs. Addams asked leave to make a door in the wall so that she might have a way into the churchyard from her house in Sadler Street so long as she lived there. The dean and chapter agreed to this, with the exceptions of Dr. Wood, who gave consent ad rem set non ad actum faciendum, and Dr. Godwin, who dissented tam ad rem quam ad actum.

1634, June 22.—Charles I to William [Piers], bishop of Bath and Wells, "and to the lord bishopp that hereafter for the time shall be."

Wee have of late taken the state of our severall bishoprickes into our princely consideracion, that wee may be the better able to preserve that livelyhood which as yet is left unto them. Uppon this deliberacion, wee fynde that of later tymes there hath not risen a greater inconvenience then by turning leases of one and twenty yeares into lives, for by that meanes the presente bishop puttes a great fyne into his owne purse, to enrich himself, his wife and children, and leaves all the succeeding bishops, of what desertes soever, to us and the church, destitute of all that growinge meanes which else would come in to helpe them. By which course, should it continue, scarse any bishop could be able to live, and keepe house according to his place and calling. We knowe the statute makes it alike lawfull for a bishop to lett his lease for one and twenty yeares or three lives, but tyme and experience have made it apparent that there is a greate deale of difference betweene them, especially in church leases, where men are commonly in greate yeares before they come to those places.

These are therefore to will and command you, uppon perill of our utmost displeasure and what shall follow thereon, that, notwithstanding any statute or any other pretence whatsoever, you presume not to lett any lease belonging to your bishopricke into lives which is not in lives already; and further, that where any fayre opportunity is offered you, if any such be, you fayle not to reduce such as are in lives into yeares.* And wee doe likewise will and require that these our royall letters may remayne uppon record, both with your owne register and with the register of the deane and chapter of your cathedrall church, and that by them notice be given to all your successors respectively (whom wee will that these letters shall concerne as much as your selfe) that they presume not to breake any of these our commandes in the least manner, as you and they will aunswere itt att your and their uttermost perills. At our mannor of Greenewich.—[Ledger G, p. 222.]

1634, June 22.—Charles I to the dean and chapter, "and to the deane and chapter of that church that hereafter for the time shall be."

[In terms similar to the last, mutatis mutandis, down to the asterisk.]

And wee doe likewise will and require that theis our letters may remayne uppon record in your own register bookes and in the registry of the lord bushopp of that dioces, that he may take notice of these our commandes unto you, and give us and our royall successors knowledge yf you presume in any sort to disobey them. And further, whereas in our late instructions wee have commanded all our bushopps respectively not to lett any lease after wee have named any of them to a better bushopricke, but did not in those instructions name the deanes, who yet were intended by us; these are therefore to declare unto you that noe deane shall presume to renewe any lease, either into lives or yeares, after such tyme as wee have nominated him either to a better denary or a bushopricke, haveing observed that, at such tymes of remove, many men care not what or how they lett, to the prejudice of the church and their successors. And this is our expresse command to you, your chapter and your successors, which is any case wee require both you and them strictly to observe, uppon payne of our highe displeasure, and as you and they will aunswere the contrary at your and their uttmost perills. At our mannor of Greenewich.—[Ledger G, p. 223.]

1634, Sept. 30.—Thomas Hall, vicar of St. Cuthbert's, Wells, having resigned, Thomas Westleigh was appointed on the nomination of Dr. Revett [to whom the right fell on the last casting of lots, fo. 158].—fo. 162*d.*

1634, Oct. 1.—An indenture of the manor of Tingeherst alias Fingest, co. Bucks, made by Dr. Young to William Ferrar alias Turner of Cookeham, co. Berks, for three lives, was ordered to be confirmed under the common or chapter seal.

The royal letters exhibited on July 14 last were read, forbidding leases for more than 21 years. The former resolution to obey them was ratified.—fo. 163.

Dr. Young, the chancellor, begged the dean to consider well before he opposed the letters of the late king James for dispensation of the said chancellor as to non-residence, and contradicted by his own act the acts of the dean and chapter formerly done in that behalf, in the presence of the dean himself, who did not oppose the royal letters, but protested that he stood by their true tenor and effect. The dean replied that that act was one of the first done by him after his installation, when he had no notice of the statutes or charter of the church, and before he had seen the royal letters; and further he claimed to have his dividend allowed him on the footing of six canons resident.

The dean announced that in a few days he would have to occupy himself with royal business, and he requested that the accounts of the church be not finished before his return from such business. Dr. Wood, the comminar for the past year, affirmed that a certain day was fixed for finishing the accounts.

[There are many documents, extending over several pages, dealing with the question of the non-residence of Dr. Young.]

1634, Oct. 6.—Charles I to the bishop.

[Reciting his letters of June 22 last.]—All which wee have done for the greate good and advancement of the church, as wee doubt not but in future times will plainly appeare. Now forasmuchas wee have bene informed that some, more affecting their present private gaine then the future good of the church, whereof they are members, have misinterpreted those our princely letters, and doe conceyve that our meaning is to prohibbitt only the letting of such leases into lives as are graunted by the deane and chapter of any church by common consent, and that every particular deane, archdeacon or prebend, who hath any corpes [? corpus] allotted to his dignity, might notwithstanding dispose of it for lives without breach of our royall commaund, as if wee would direct our letters to a body in gencrall and not intend to include every severall member thereof. Theis are therefore to will and require you that you fayle not to signifye this explanacion of our princely pleasure to your severall archdeacons and to the deane and chapter of your cathedrall church, that they may impart itt to every prebend, which is, that wee doe not only lay theis our commaundes uppon them and their successors in generall, but likewise uppon every particular member of that church whom they may any way concerne, from the highest to the meanest officer in the same, including the vicars choralls, in what church soever any such body is. . . . At our honour of Hampton Court.—[Ledger G, p. 231.]

1634, Oct. 22.—Letters from the king to the bishop were read, concerning the granting of leases for more than 21 years. Ordered that the prebendaries and vicars-choral be cited for January 2.—fo. 167.

1634, Oct. 25.—Francis Standish appointed a perpetual vicar-choral.

The vicars-choral and Mr. Mahatt, prebendary of Compton Bishop's, appeared and were warned of the king's letters as to leasing their lands. The other prebendaries, though duly cited, did not appear and were pronounced contumacious.

Mr. John Oker is charged "that he did not consult with the canons resident of this church before he did give notice to the vicars that there should be noe antumne sung in steede of Nunc dimittis or Benedictus, but only according to the forme of common prayer." He answered that "he was commaunded by the reverend father in god the lord bushopp of Bath and Wells, in the presence of Mr. Doctor Wood, to give such notice . . . which he did without consulting with any the canons resident of this church then in towne." The dean, after examining the statutes of this church, pronounced him contumacious, and suspended him from his office of vicar and from the profits thereof for one week.—fo. 168.

In the absence of the precentor, the dean warned John Oker, the master of the choristers, to admit Nicholas Clunn in the place of John Corne.

The dean declared "that in case it shall be my lordes grace of Caunterbury his pleasure that Frauncis Lewes shall be placed in a chorister [sic] of this church in the place of William Bisse, taking it to be in his grace his power soe to place him by meanes of his metropoliticall visitacion, then he doth decree (in all obedience to his grace his pleasure) that the said Lewes shall be soe admitted; but untill his grace shall soe declare himselfe, the said Mr. Oker is not to admitt him a chorister." Even though the archbishop should not give any directions, since the bishop of Bath and Wells has also desired it, the dean will be content that Lewes should be admitted, "yf he be as fitt as another that shall be tendered." But there are three other boys that are very likely, George Oker, George Hulett and John Read, and it is right that the worthiest be chosen.—fo. 168*d.*

1634–5, Jan. 2.—Lease to Mary Maicock of Wells, widow, for 40 years, of "all that shilfe-howse or out-howse . . . adjoyneinge unto the west end of the cathedrall church . . . and on the south side of the said west end of the said church, and on the north side of a room or howse sometyme used for and commonly called the Doale-howse, neere to the Grammer Schoole"; rent 4*d.*—[Ledger G, p. 238.]

1634–5, Feb. 9.—Henry Pope, vicar-choral, suspended from his office and the profits thereof for one week, for going out of town to Bristol without leave asked of Mr. dean.—fo. 169.

1634–5, March 12.—Sebastian Smith, M.A., installed in the prebend of Combe VIII, on the death of Edward Abbott, pursuant to mandate of the bishop; and appointed precentor. —fo. 169*d.*

1634–1635.

1634–5, March 20.—Walter Raleigh, M.A., installed in the prebend of Combe II, on the resignation of John Swadell, pursuant to mandate of the bishop.—fo. 170*d.*

1635, April 1.—The dean informed the chapter that he had received an order from the archbishop of Canterbury to remove all seats from the nave of the cathedral church ; the chapter unanimously gave order accordingly.—fo. 171*d.*

For the place of a canon resident vacant by the death of Edward Abbott, there were two petitioners, Sebastian Smith, the new precentor, and Thomas Walker, S.T.D. ; the latter was elected by a majority, and paid 100 marks caution money. —fo. 172*d.*

1635, April 11.—Thomas Peirs, S.T.D., installed in the prebend of Compton Bishop, pursuant to mandate of the bishop.—fo. 173*d.*

1635, April 16.—The dean and chapter "unanimously authorized (as much as in them lieth) Thomas Bakehowse and Thomas Sergeaunt of Wells, groviers, Nicholas Sexton, gent., Edward Browning and Cornelius Wattes of Wells aforesaid, to digg and search for lead oare within their mannor of Winscombe and in every or any parte of their wast ground, and particularly in the inclosed [? grounds] of Mr. Henry Tripp, their tenaunt there, and shall forthwith sett on the said worke, with consent of the said Tripp. Provided and on condicion that they shall pay unto the deane and chapter aforesaid the seaventh parte of the said lead oare for their parte, as being lordes of the said groundes where the said lead oare is to be found, and allsoe the tenth parte or lottlead to the said deane and chapter, as being the cheife lordes royall of the soyle. But yf the oare expected and hoped for doe not arise soe plentifully as to defray the workmen's wages and necessary charges, then the deane and chapter is to have but the eigth parte, and the said lottlead or 10th parte of the oare that shall be found in the said groofes. Which aggreement is to be confirmed on the next chapter day, and that the said Tripp, for his suffring his groundes to be broken upp, shall be saved harmeles from the deane and chapter abovesaid."—fo. 174.

The canonical house lately occupied by Mr. Crichton, granted to Dr. Roberts, the sub-dean.

1635, Sept. 14.—Thomas Man [or Manne], S.T.B., installed in the prebend of Combe IV.—fo. 175.

Payments : 10*l.* to Robert Ashe, the schoolmaster ; 20*l.* to John Oker, master of the choristers.

1635, Oct. 1.—"Mr. deane proposed to the chapter then present that he had received a commaund from my lordes grace of Cant. that the deane and chapter of this church should consult together for providing ornamentes for this church, and, casting upp what the charge of them would amount unto, should sett apart out of their dividentes the one halfe of such charge the first yeare, and the other halfe the next yeare; to which mocion the said Mr. deane for his parte declared his readines and consent, and soe did the said chapter; and they all resolved betweene this and the next chapter day to consider of the ornamentes and charge, and then to give order for the same, in performance of his grace's commaund."—fo. 176.

Unanimously agreed, "that such daies as Mr. deane shall spend in waiting on his majesty or in travelling towardes him or home from such service, shall be allowed as parte of the daies of his residence. And the like favour the said Mr. deane, Dr. Revett, Dr. Ward and Dr. Godwyn, graunte to Dr. Walker, in case that the said Dr. Walker, with such daies spent in waiting on his majestie, doe make upp his full daies of residence."

Information by Mr. Martin Simons, clerk, that Mary Clarke, wife of John Clarke, one of the vicars-choral, said that the ministers were "hooremasters and drunckards." On being asked by Simons to whom she referred, she said, "I will name them. I speake it of Corne and the two Clunns, and that she would never receave the communion at neither of their handes." Simons answered "that he did thinke she would doe pennance at the crosse for it, and he could not but revcale it." She wished ". . . that my lord bishopp of Bristoll when he did come to towne he should heare it of both eares." Henry Pope, vicar-choral, informed that Mrs. Clarke said "that there were such ministers made as would doe undoe [sic] the kingdome, and that some of them were made by the bishopp of Bristoll." Mr. Hunt confirmed the story and added that she said "that Mr. Corne, Mr. Frauncis Clunn, Mr. William Clunn and John Earle were they who were not fitt to be made ministers unlesse they could give account of their faith in latine." The bishop "protested that he hath made noe vicars chorall of this church ministers,* but by the commendacions of the deane and chapter; and that he desireth to be righted in this opprobrious scandall."—fo. 176*d.*

1667, Oct. 14.—The like memorandum as to the examination of Bartholomew Blackwell, in the same matter.*—fo. 177.

1635, Oct. 24.—William Bisse, M.A., installed in the prebend of Combe I, pursuant to mandate of the bishop.—p. 1.

Dr. Ward intimated "that he was detayned from his residence at this church from the beginning of August untill the 14th of August, 1635, by letters written in his majestie's name about the examinacion of busines concerning the mastershipp of Katherine Hall, and partly uppon occasion of my lord of Canterbury his grace his letters sent touching the universities recordes, whether the university of Cambridge by them were exempted from his metropoliticall visitacion; and that he was detayned from like residence by letters sent from the ho^ble Earle of Holland, Chauncellor of Cambridge, from the twentieth of August, 1635, when he was coming towards Wells, untill allmost Michaelmas last, about the same business."—p. 2.

"Which day, parte of a letter written by Mr. Crichton to Mr. deane being read, it appeared by the same that the said Mr. Crichton was detayned from like residence by meanes of a letter sent by the Earle of Holland in his majestie's name, to command his abiding at Cambridge when he was coming hither in August last."

1635–6, Jan. 4.—Dr. Wood intimated "that there ought to be five of the chapter when any lease is graunted or sealed, and protesteth against any act to be done to the contrary. [Four only were present.] Mr. deane and Doctor Revett for their partes denying the same, and affirming that in any one of the fower generall chapter daies, the major parte of the chapter then meeting and present may graunte and seale, Mr. Dr. Godwyn affirming and protesting as is by Dr. Wood alleaged and protested."—p. 3.

1635–6, Jan. 5.—Objected against Mr. Martin Simon "that there was noe morning prayer on Sonday last, being the third of January, through his default." He is suspended from profits for a week, and ordered to perform divine service in the chapel of Blessed Mary throughout this week, up to and including Sunday.—p. 4.

1635–6, Feb. 20.—Archbishop Laud to the dean and chapter.

S. in Xpo. After my harty commendacions, etc. These are to lett you know that Dr. Warde, residentiary of your church, hath peticioned his majestie that he may receive all dividents, quotidians and other emoluments belonging to him, thoe he keepe but one halfe of the recidence to which the charter binds him. This petician is referred to me (as you may see by the coppie of it which I send you here enclosed) and power given me to order it as I shall thinke fitt; yet my respect to you and to the church is such, that I shall not determine anything till I heare from you what opinion you have of the busynesse, which I pray send me with all the convenient speed you can. For my owne parte, I could wishe that both in that church and all other cathedralls, such men were chosen into residence as might keepe the time enjoyned them solemnly, which would be a greate honor to the severall churches and a great strength to the discipline of them. But sence I find many worthy men actualy in those places, which, by reason of the places they hold elsewhere abroad in the church, cannot possible, without as great prejudice to it as themselves, reside soe fully as they should, I am in my owne thoughts inclinable (at least, as I stand yet advised) to shewe some favour in this particular, unlesse you can shewe some sufficient reason to the contrary.

I am farther informed by Dr. Warde that the major part of the chapter allowed of his cause of absence, at Michaelmas last, and that therefore he desires that divident alsoe may be payd him, which I pray you to take into consideracion, and let me know your opinion of it; for if this cause of absence were soe allowed, I doe not yet see (the major parte ruleing all busynesses of chapter) how this divident can be denyed him. Soe wishing you all health and happines, I leave you to the grace of God, and rest,

Your very loving freind,

W. Cant.

Lambeth, Feb. 20, 1635.—[Ledger G, p. 256.]

1636, April 1.—A letter was read from William [Laud], archbishop of Canterbury, in favour of Dr. Ward being dispensed from residence; the chapter allow that the reasons given by Dr. Ward in his petition to the king are good and sufficient. A dispensation from half his residence is granted to him, with humble submission to whatever his grace shall order herein. He shall have his full "divident" for last year.—p. 6.

1636, April 26.—Archbishop Laud to the dean and chapter. S. in Xpo. After my very harty commendacions, &c. I thanke you hartily for the two letters which I have received from you. And to one of them, concerning your choice of one Daniell Davis into a tenor's place in that church, I have given soe full satisfaction to Mr. deane and desired him to acquaint you with it, that I shall not need to write any other letter concerning it. And soe farr am I from desiring the choice of a tenor into the roome of a basse or a counter-tenor, as that I shall never thinke it fitt, where the number is soe few, to have a tenor chosen at all, where a basse or a counter-tenor may be had. Soe I leave you free for that busynesse of Davis, and thank you for giveing me an accompt, how unfitt it might prove for your church service to choose a tenor at this present.

For the other busynesse, concerning Dr. Ward, I must write a litle more, because of his majestie's reference to me; but otherwise, you have dealt soe fairely with him, that were it not for that reference I should not need to have written any more to you, for, as for his divident for the last yeare, you have allowed it all unto him by common consent; for which, as I thanke you, soe have I noe more to say concerning yt. And for the second parte of his busynesse, since you conceive the reasons, upon which his peticion is grownded, to be just and reasonable, that some parte of his residense may be abated him, I thinke it will be most fitt and indifferent upon the evidence and justice of the same reasons (since his majestie hath benn pleased to referr the cause unto me) to require of Dr. Ward that he shall keepe the same proporcion of residense and noe more as of necessity then he did the last yeare, which is, as I conceive, halfe the residence required by statute; allwayes provided that this dispensation for halfe residence be noe longer allowed to his use and benifitt then he shall continue the lecture which he now reads in the university of Cambridg. These are therefore not onely to allowe and approve the chapter act, which you have made for the time past, but farther to pray and require you, according to the power given me by his majestie, that you doe confirme by another chapter act unto the sayd Dr. Warde, prebend residentiary of that your church of Wells, his whole divident, thoe in every yeare he doe keepe and observe but his halfe residence, with such limitation as is before expressed. Soe wishing you all health and happinesse, I leave you all to the grace of God, and rest, your very loving freind,

W. Cant.

1638, Oct. 1.—Martin Simon, clerk, is charged with irregular and contumelious behaviour. He had received a license, under the seal of the official of the dean and chapter, to solemnize matrimony betwcen one Sheppard of Banwell and — Bath of the liberties of this church. At the time of the ceremony in the cathedral, he refused to marry them unless they gave him 10*s.*, notwithstanding a message from Dr. Godwyn and a personal demand from him in the church, either to deliver up the license or to marry them. Eventually, after several refusals, he gave up the license to Dr. Godwyn, saying that he doubted if it were safe to do so.—p. 38.

Mr. Huish, sworn, said that about ten weeks ago he saw Dr. Godwyn "neerc the horrolodge in the said church"; Simon refused to give up the license "and thereon the said Dr. Godwyn, as it seemed, intending to proceede against him in a judiciary way, sate downe at the old consistory place neere thc horrolodge," again demanded the license. "Simon denyed to deliver the same, whereon some standing by him and advising him to deliver him to avoyde suspencion," he gave the license to Dr. Godwyn, "and went away in a grumbling manner." Mr. William Hunt and Mr. John Bradford were there.

1639, Nov. 15.—Nicholas Sexten elected clerk of the courts of the dean and chapter, on the death of Alexander Towse. —p. 57.

* The passage is rather obscure; it seems to mean that the canons in choir and chapter were to take precedence in their seniority as such, irrespective of any dignity they might hold outside the chapter. Mr. Smith was the junior canon. Ante, p. 418.

The dean and chapter protested that the bishop could not make orders or decrees [ordinare vel statuere] in the chapter house and ought not to do so, even if [etiamsi] it shall be in his visitation; and they made this protest because it appears that the bishop, against the powers of the chapter and the royal charters granted to them, in a cause between Dr. Crichton and Mr. Smith, lately pending, had used these words: "Dictus dominus episcopus, visitacionem suam predictam celebrans, et judicialiter sedens, animo componendi et sedandi controversiam et contentionem predictas, ordinavit et statuit." And they protested the bishop has no power to warn Drs. Wood and Godwyn to certify utrum aliquis defectus informatus aut prevertatus [sic] in aliquem diem ultra quatuor menses visitacionis pro inita reformetur. And they also protested to be null and void the inhibition pronounced by the bishop against any canon resident forbidding him to preach in the cathedral, and especially the inhibition pronounced by Alexander Jett, the bishop's registrar, against Dr. Godwyn.—p. 62.

1640, March 27.—Because it is a thing very uncomely and unusuall in cathedrall churches to have galleries sett upp and continued, and especially men and women to sitt together in so eminent a place in the view of the choyre as the two galleries that are allready erected at the north and south sydes of the choyre of the said church are, and because the said galleries were not erected by consent of chapter or chapter act, and by reason of divers abuses to the eyes of many publiquely done, which they have in parte seen and otherwise crediblely heard of, and forasmuch they from good eares have understood that the same seates are very scandalously taken by men of quallity of this dioces: they doe therefore unanimously consent and capitularly agree that the two doores at the feete of the severall stayres to the said galleryes, shalbe forthwith fast nayled upp, untill they shall see cause otherwise to do with them. And they deputed and appoynted Dr. Godwyn to see it done, as deputy master of the fabrick.—p. 63.

That yesterday, after the celebration of the Holy Communion, they came into the vestry, bringing with them the consecrated wine which was left at the Communion. Mr. Simons took the chalice and poured the wine into a pewter pot, and being asked by Mr. Alderley what he meant to do with it, answered that it belonged to him and that he should carry it home. Mr. Alderley said that he should not, because the dean and chapter had ordered that no consecrated wine should be carried away to any man's house. Mr. Simons said that he would, and in a violent manner pulled off his gown and surplice, and desired Mr. Anthony Mowry and Humfry Marshe, then and there present, to depart out of the vestry, and said in a choleric manner that then he would deal with Mr. Alderly well enough. Whereupon Mr. Alderley went and held the door, and said that he should not carry away any wine. Mr. Simons, notwithstanding an offer by Marshe to go and ask the dean if he might have the wine or not, set hands upon the pot in a violent manner, and threw Mr. Alderley, who sought to stop him, to the ground, bruising his finger and drawing blood, "with which striveing much of the wyne was spilt on the ground."—pp. 64, 65.

It is decreed that both Simon [sic] and Alderley have come in pœnam statuti ; Simon is suspended a celebracione divinorum, and his profit being suspended, the chapter orderd that this be published. Alderley is excommunicated.—p. 68.

1643, Oct. 3.—William Watts, S.T.D., produced letters from the king in favour of his admission as a canon resident. Dr. Crichton protested that when he had formerly given his consent to the pre-election of Mr. Peirs, he was ignorant of the laws and customs of this church. He thought that the votes [suffragia] of the chapter as to every election should be kept intact until the chapter assembled, and that "pessimum esse exemplum posteritati, pessimum exemplum a pessimo ductum . . . protestatus est etiam coram deo se nunquam inposterum, aut pro ullo favore aut ullo timore, suffragium aut vocem suum se promissurum dum in capitulum intraverit." At the request of the archdeacon of Bath [Mr. Peirs], Tristram Towse was ordered to give him copies of the acts relating to the promise to elect him a canon resident.

1643–4, Jan. 4.—The dean raised the question whether by the royal letters in favour of Dr. Watts, dated September 18 last, they were bound to defer the election of a new canon. It was unanimously agreed that they were not so bound, especially as they had waited for Dr. Watts from Sept. 18 to Jan. 4, through two solemn chapter days and various adjournments; within which days, if he had come and shown himself habilis pro omnia, the chapter would have been ready to obey the royal letters.—p. 114.

Having inspected the charter of the church and considered the chapter acts relating to the pre-election of Mr. Peirs, late archdeacon of Bath, it was declared that, since all pre-elections of canons resident destroyed freedom of election and were contrary to the charter and the custom of the church, all acts touching the said pre-election were revoked and annulled. Dr. Godwyn dissented, holding himself bound by his previous promise; he would not make such promises in future.

Roger Wood, M.A., a prebendary of this church, admitted a canon resident, on the death of Dr. [Samuel] Ward, late archdeacon of Taunton. and enjoin the other prebendaries that, whereas in all repair of buildings they contribute indeed not one fourth part to relieve our burdens, now at least in the completion of this work [in operis coronide] each one will wish to give a proof of himself, and with his own moneys will adorn his own individual seat or stall (as it is commonly called) in the choir, so that all things within [the church] may shine brightly and correspond [rutilent et respondeant]; and thus, when they come, they will be fittingly [decore] seated, and they will commend to posterity the love [affectum] which they owe to the mother, —Robert Creyghtone, dean, William Peirs, Thomas Holt, J. 1664, Oct. 7.—Statute for detaining the dividends of the canons until the debts of the church are discharged.—fo. 21.

Whereas among all the cares and concerns which are incumbent on us, those things should always be first and principal which touch equally the usefulness and honour of our church, which since we have adorned it, at immense and lavish cost [cum impensis vastis et prodigiosis], so that it now yields to no cathedral throughout the whole of this island in splendour and magnificence, wherewith almost all the yearly dividends and rents of our canons are fallen away to nothing [in nihilum ruerint]. And whereas the venerable man, the archdeacon of Taunton [William Peirs], our comminar for some years past, through too much charity and heedless friendship for the dean and canons, his confratres, has lent moneys against their dividends at the end of the year, whereby not only are our funds exhausted and the rents of the year consumed, but also some confusion is caused in the accounts of years somewhat in arrear [aliquot retro]. Wherefore, in order to provide for these inconveniences hereafter in due course, we, in full chapter, and with the assent and fatherly counsel of the most reverend father in Christ, the lord bishop, our diocesan, have ordained and enacted these two things :—

First, that no canon shall ask for or seek to have any part of the dividends but at the end of the year, when the debts of all the canons are paid to the church and the church itself fully discharged from any money.—fo. 21*d.*

Secondly, we order that the pernicious custom of our church of lending moneys by the comminar before the end of the year shall die out [exolescere] ; and we severely and strictly enjoin every comminar in future, by this common vote of all, that he do not pay, lend or advance (on pretext of the said custom) to any canon any moneys against the dividends at the end of the year, lest fresh troubles accrue to the church and a worse confusion grow anew in our reckonings [nostris rationibus]. —Rob : Creyghtone, Sebastian Smythe, Will : Peirs, Tho : Holt, J. Selleck, Gr : Sheafe.

He protested against any business, public or private, being transacted in chapter until the king's letters have been dealt with.—fo. 74.

1683, April 12.—Bishop Mews to the chapter. Wells.

My reverend brethren,

Having received the copy of a letter presented to you at your last meeting by Mr. Wm. and Mr. Tho. Peirce, in which they do (as they ought) professe a very great deference to your body, but at the same time make a very unbecoming reflexion (if I may be allow'd to say so) upon mee, in relation to Mr. Sandys's title to the canonry of this church, of the legality of whose investiture into which they might (had they vouchsaf'd to apply themselves to mee) bin fully satisfy'd ; I cannot but think myselfe obliged as well for your satisfaction (if any doubt should remayn with you) as for the confirmation of Mr. Sandys his right, and my own vindication, to declare, and I do by these presents declare that their suggestion is scandalously false : Mr. Sandys having duely perform'd all which the law requires to be done before mee, as may appeare by my certificate under my hand and seale.

I should add much more, did not religion and charity command my passion, and you should have had this under a fairer character, but that I did not think it so proper to deliver my thoughts to you under any other hand but my own, which will allwayes subscribe mee

Your affectionate, though, at present, affronted, brother,

P. Bath & Wells.

1683, April 13.—The chapter to the bishop. Chapter House, Wells.

Wee received your lordship's letter of the 12th of this instant, and have made an act for the recording of it, and accordingly so it is done ; and wee shall be ready to give your lordship all other satisfaction, as in duty wee are bound. Wee are sorry that anything should come to us that might be in the least measure troublesome to your lordship, no chapter in the world being more tender of the honour of their bishop, nor more ready to expresse their obedience then wee are and shall ever study to be to the utmost of our power. Wee were not able to foresee or prevent the heats and imprudencies of youth, and are troubled that they should be guilty of anything looking like an affront, especially towards your lordship. Wee have not been so far concerned in the difference between our bro. Sandys and Mr. Peirces as to question the legality of his election, but wee are concern'd that there should be any reflexion upon your lordship, especially such a one as carries scandall with it. Wee shall endeavour, as much as lies in us, to heale up the wounds and close the breaches between them, and wee humbly beg your lordship's helping hand to make an effectuall composure, and your lordship's blessing upon,

Right Reverend,
Your lordship's most dutifull and obedient,
THO: HOLT.
J. SELLECK.

CHARLES R.

Trusty and welbeloved, We greet you well. Having seen a capitular act made by you, the deane and chapter of our cathedrall church of Wells, containing certaine regulations how the canons residentiaries of that our church are to make their residences there throughout the yeare, that the same may be done in such manner as may best conduce to the service of God, the honour of that church and the convenience of the members thereof ; which capitular act is in the words following :—

Cum in Canone 44*to cautum et provisum sit quod ecclesiarum cathedralium canonici ita semper residentiæ tempora per totius anni curriculum inter se distribuant, ut ecclesia sua residentiariis, saltem aliquibus, nunquam penitus destituatur : Cumque nuperis temporibus, summa disciplinæ ecclesiasticæ incuria, evenerit ut omnes canonici inter primores menses ad residentiam suam una convolaverint, reliquo anni tempore neglecto nimium atque insuper habito ; eo scilicet fine ut residentiæ suæ termino per id tempus qualitercumque adimpleto totius anni sequentis commoda et emollita salva sibi præstent atque integra ; nos, ut sanctionis tam laudabilis authoritas vindicetur, atque honori et commodo ecclesiæ hujus melius in posterum consulatur, sic statuimus et decernimus.*

1°.—Quod ineunte anno, scilicet, intra octavas festi sancti Michaælis, decanus et canonici in capitulo congregati tempus residentiæ suæ per annum sequentem ita ordinent et disponant, ut bini saltem, per singulos anni quadrantes, continuo residere teneantur.

4°.—Ne tamen præsens hoc statutum iis, quibus posteriores sortes obligerint, fraudi sit, insuper decretum esto, quod omnia stipendia, dividenda, obvenciones, aliaque cujuscunque generis commoda et emolumenta, non solum iis debeantur et solvantur qui intra primum anni quadrantem residentiam suam actu compleverint, sed iis etiam qui complere parati sunt, licet ipsos sors sua in posteriores menses detruserit, ita ut residentiam actualem finere aut vero inchoare, nondum potuerint.

5°.—Singuli autem canonici, et præcipue decanus ipse, quotiescunque residentiæ suæ vices obierint, pauperibus sublevandis, hospitibusque honestiori modo excipiendis operam dabant ; imprimis vero sedulo jurabunt ut preces

1684–5, March 2.—To the king's most excellent majesty, James the Second. . . .

The humble address of the bishop and clergy of the diocesse of Bath and Wells.

If ever our loyalty could truly be sayd to sow in teares and to reap in joy, it was that houre when wee receiv'd the newes of our late dread soveraigne's death and of your majestie's peaceable succession.

But, blessed be God, whose propitious providence made our joyes to over-balance our sorrowes, by soon satisfying us that our king never died; that hee still lives in you, his rightfull successor; that he still lives in you, his onely brother, and, as hee himselfe on his death-bed often profess'd, his dearest friend; that he still lives in you, in that peculiar graciousnesse which render'd him amiable to all mankind and a most tender nursing father to the church and people of England, and which to our unspeakable consolation does illustriously appeare in that auspicious promise your majesty has made us of protecting our establish't religion, the greatest concerne wee have in the world.

'Tis this assures us that the dying benediction his late majesty gave to his kingdome, is abundantly fulfill'd in you, and wee securely relye on the sacrednesse of your royall word, which has ever beene inviolable; for which wee returne our most humble acknowlegements to your majesty, and offer up our praises to the divine goodness.

Wee do withall solemnly vow to teach and to inculcate allegiance, both in our discourses and by our examples, to all your subjects under our care, and to excite them to joyn with us in our fervent prayers that your majesty may have an happy reigne here below and a late exaltation to your throne above.—fo. 60.

1685, June 18.—Afterwards, the disgraceful civil war pressing hardly, under the command and in the presence of the chief of the rebels, James, Duke of Monmouth, the bastard son of the most illustrious prince, Charles II, late king of England; the most noble lord Charles, Duke of Somerset, the king's lieutenant in that county, being sent into these parts, and military matters, which ought to be a help to the king, wrongly arising, being weakened not less by the lack of money, the sinews of war, than by the folly of the soldiers, deserting their leaders and the king's side and almost at the same moment joining the rebels; it seemed good to the venerable men, Dr. Holt, Dr. Creyghton, Mr. Sandys and Mr. Dutton, assembled at Wells, June 18, 1685, in order that the cathedral church may be seen in some way to take its part so far as it can in these difficulties, to lend 100*l.* to the king's majesty, its most worthy patron, for the king's use in the impending war; to which end they at once gave orders to me, Richard Healy, who then had that sum belonging to the dean and chapter in my possession, to pay the same into the hands of the aforesaid most honorable lord, the Duke of Somerset, which mandate they decreed should be by warrant for such payment, and at once I paid the money as is aforesaid.

We testify to the premises.

1685, July 1.—In the chapter house, between the hours of 4 and 5 p.m.; present Dr. Thomas Holt, the chancellor, and Nicholas Neblett, notary public.—fo. 66.

Because the civil war has so far fallen hardly upon us, this cathedral church having much, alas! over much, experienced the barbarity of the rebel fanatics, who early this very morning profaned the whole furniture thereof, almost ruined the organ, and they have transformed the sacred edifice into stalls for their horses—he prorogued the chapter and adjourned it to July 29, hoping that before such time this wicked rebellion would be utterly rooted out.

Nor indeed was the desire of the most worthy president disappointed in that behalf, inasmuch as the intervening 6th of July, auspicious day! brought an end to the rebellion and a downfall to the rebels, at Weston Zoyland in this county. And so it is now possible to return in safety to the care of the church, that stands firm against treason, arms and hatred, and against the gates of hell.

Deus, Deus nobis hæc otia fecit.

1685, Aug. 3.—Thomas Brickenden, S.T.B., prebend of Wormister, presented the following letter from the king to the dean and chapter:—

1735, Oct. 2.—John Wickstedd, M.A., installed in the prebend of Dultingcot otherwise Thinghurst, on the death of Thomas Biggs, pursuant to mandate of the bishop.—fo. 146*d.*

1735, Nov. 6.—Whereas Mr. Thomas Eyre, chancellor of this diocese, hath of late made several incroachments upon the exempt and peculiar jurisdiction of the dean and chapter of this cathedral church, and particularly, notwithstanding his incompetency to exercise any manner of ecclesiastical jurisdiction whatsoever by reason of his being under the sentence of excommunication pronounced against him by the worshipful Dr. Bettesworth, Dean of the Arches, hath attempted to publish two suspensions of the archdeacons of Wells and Bath, canons residentiary of this cathedral church, for exercising their ordinary jurisdiction, in obedience to the lord bishop's relaxation of his inhibitions usually issued upon holding his triennial visitations, to them severally directed under his hand and episcopal seal; and hath issued several mandates directed to the four priest-vicars of this cathedral church, commanding them or one of them who should officiate upon the Sunday after he or they were served with the same, to publish the said suspensions in the said cathedral church in time of Divine service; and hath also issued several other mandates directed to the sacrist of this church, requiring him to fix the same suspensions on the several stalls belonging to the said archdeacons in this cathedral church, in high contempt of the lord bishop's relaxation, and notorious violation of the known peculiar and exempt jurisdiction of this cathedral church and the liberty of the same. Which said attempt to publish the said suspensions, in the manner aforesaid, was prevented by the lord bishop's directing Mr. Lovell, the officiating vicar on Sunday, Oct. 19 last, and the sacrist to deliver the several mandates, by them received, into his lordship's hands at his coming to church on that day, which they did accordingly; upon which his lordship tore one of them in pieces and detained the rest. Notwithstanding which, he, the said chancellor, did on the last Sunday, Nov. 2 inst., in the morning while the bell was tolling to prayers, cause several other paper writings, purporting the aforesaid suspensions, to be affixed on the western outer doors of this cathedral church by William Clark, an apparitor, in further contempt of his lordship's authority and wilful violation of the privileges and immunities of this cathedral church, totally exempt from all and all manner of his pretended jurisdiction. Whereupon Mr. Archdeacon Archer, Mr. Chancellor Humphryes and Mr. Treasurer Woodford, the only canons residentiary then in town, did order John Brice, the sacrist, to take down the said papers, which he did accordingly, in presence of him the said apparitor; for which fact the said chancellor did, as the said canons are credibly given to understand, declare openly in the episcopal consistory court last Tuesday, that he would cause the said sacrist to be immediately prosecuted at law, and did then moreover decree and order that new copies of the said suspensions should be again made out by the deputy register and fixed on the west door of this cathedral church on the next Sunday morning.—fo. 148*d.*

Now for the preservation of the known, exempt and peculiar jurisdiction of this cathedral church and the liberty thereof from the injurious invasions and incroachments of him the said chancellor, it is here by decreed and declared by the canons now capitularly assembled, that in case any such papers of suspensions aforesaid be at any time hereafter fixed on any doors of this cathedral church, that such papers so affixed shall be taken down by the sacrist, and that in case he be molested by the said chancellor, either for what he hath done or shall do in obedience to these capitular commands and directions, he shall be defended and indemnified at the cost of the said dean and chapter.—fo. 149*d.*

1735, Dec. 1.—Whereas Mr. Thomas Eyre, chancellor of the diocese of Bath and Wells, being lawfully and duly excommunicated by sentence in the Arches court of Canterbury, was yesterday morning, in the parish church of St. Cuthbert's in this city, publicly denounced and declared to be excommunicated according to the laws of this realm, by which he is not only suspended from all divine service but also excluded from the fellowship and company of Christ's congregation, yet nevertheless did in the afternoon come into this cathedral church at the time of divine service, into the pew where he used to sit. Whereupon the three canons above mentioned [Dr. Archer, Mr. Humphries and Mr. Woodford] did send James Curtis, their virger, to acquaint him that they did desire to speak with him in the vestry, but he refusing to come to them and continuing still in his seat, the said canons went to their respective stalls, and sent the said virger a second time to him, to signify to him that as he had that morning been denounced to be an excommunicated person, they did desire him to go out of the church and give no disturbance to the divine service. Upon which he sent this answer by the virger, that if Dr. Archer said so, tell him that I will excommunicate him. And then Dr. Archer with the other two canons went to the said chancellor, then being in his seat, and did admonish him, as having been denounced excommunicated three times in the morning in the parish church, to depart from the cathedral and give no hindrance to the divine service, which he obstinately and contemptuously refusing to do, the said canons and the whole congregation departed, being deprived of the performance of divine service.

The said canons, taking this obstinate and scandalous behaviour of the said chancellor into their serious consideration, do resolve that immediate application be made to learned counsel for proper directions how to proceed against him, the said chancellor, for the said contempt of the laws and disturbance of divine service, and what proper methods may be made use of to prevent the like behaviour for the future.—fo. 150.

1735, Dec. 13.—Whereas Mr. Chancellor Eyre did issue a pretended citation against the above mentioned canons [Dr. Archer, Mr. Humphries and Mr. Woodford], as they are credibly informed, requiring them to appear before him on Tuesday last, to answer the admonition by them given to him, an excommunicated person, to go out of the cathedral on Nov. 30th, notwithstanding both they and the said cathedral are wholly exempt from his pretended claim of jurisdiction, and notwithstanding the said citation was never duly served upon any of the said canons, did the said last Tuesday call the said canons to appear before him in his consistorial court, which they not doing, the said chancellor, after having treated the said canons in a most abusive and scandalous manner, did decree all and every of them to be contumacious, and upon such pretended contempt did pronounce them to be excommunicated, and accordingly then and there did openly and publicly excommunicate them in writing, contrary to law, and in notorious violation of the rights and privileges of this cathedral church and the liberty thereof. The said canons, taking the said outragious behaviour of the chancellor into their serious consideration, and also the solemn obligation they and every member of this church are under by oath to maintain and defend the rights, privileges and immunities of the said cathedral, do order and appoint Mr. John Paine, register to the dean and chapter, to write to Mr. Mark Holman, a proctor of Doctors' Commons, to lay the above mentioned proceedings before Dr. Henchman, Dr. Paul and Dr. Andrews, advocates of the Court of Arches, and of some learned counsel in the practice of the common law, and take their advice and direction in what proper manner they may proceed against the said chancellor for these his arbitrary vexations and injurious proceedings; and moreover that application be also made to some learned counsel in the common law for their opinion in what manner the said chancellor for the aforesaid facts and offences may be proceeded against in some one of the courts at Westminster.—fo. 151.

1735–6, March 1.—The office of the officiality of the dean and chapter granted to Mr. Treasurer Woodford.—fo. 153.

1735–6, March 2.—Dr. Henchman, Dr. Paul and Dr. Andrews have advised and directed that appeals from the aforesaid proceedings of the chancellor should be lodged in the Arches Court of Canterbury, pursuant to which advice, prothocols of appeal have in the names and on the behalf of the said three canons [Archer, Humphries and Woodford] been already drawn up and read by Mr. Mark Holman, one of the proctors of the said Arches Court, as necessary for obtaining relief from the said injuries and violations: now it is hereby in full chapter decreed and ordered that the said appeals shall be carried on and prosecuted by the said Mr. Holman, at the cost and charges of the dean and chapter, in such methods and by such ways and forms of proceedings as by the aforesaid advocates (or such of them as it shall be adjudged necessary and proper to apply unto) shall be further advised and directed. —fo. 153*d.*

1736, April 6.—To the end that the execution of the several offices of the church which it is incumbent upon the priest-vicars to use, as curates of the liberty of this cathedral church, together with the surplice fees and other fees and perquisites usually given for performing the same, may be equally distributed among the priest-vicars, it is decreed that for the future the several orders of public and private baptism, matrimony, visitation and communion of the sick, burial of the dead, and thanksgiving of women after childbirth, shall be discharged as occasion offers, in every week, by that vicar only who is then to read prayers in his proper regular course, and by none other, except in the lawful absence of the reading vicar, in which case the person performing the said offices shall be obliged to deliver the surplice fees to the person who should have received it if he had been present —fo. 154*d.*

It is likewise further decreed that no priest-vicar or any one else do perform the office of matrimony in the chapel in Close Hall, and that all marriages celebrated in the said chapel are declared to be clandestine marriages, and to be censured as such ; and that a fair copy of this act be delivered to every one of the priest-vicars.—fo. 155.

1736, Sept. 28.—The dean protested against the clause forbidding his receipt of profits before October 1; the late dean, Dr. Maddox, "is not entitled to any dividend of the profits of my canonry [the new dean's] for the current year, for that he has voluntarily made himself incapable of residence by accepting the bishopric of St. Asaph, and that the profits of the canonry for the current year belong to me only and to no other person or persons whatsoever."

THE HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE,
CHANCERY LANE,
LONDON, W.C.

CERTAIN COMMISSIONERS were appointed by Queen Victoria in 1869 to enquire as to the existence of unpublished manuscripts in the possession of private persons and in institutions, calculated to throw light on the Civil, Ecclesiastical, Literary, or Scientific History of the Empire. The Commission has been renewed by the late King and by H.M. King George, and new Commissioners have been appointed from time to time to fill vacancies that have occurred.

The present Commissioners are :—

Lord Cozens-Hardy of Letheringsett, Master of the Rolls (Chairman), the Earl of Crawford, the Earl of Rosebery, K.G., the Earl of Dartmouth, Viscount Morley of Blackburn, O.M., Lord Fitzmaurice, Lord Alverstone, K.C.M.G., Lord Lindley, Lord Mostyn, Sir Edward Fry, Sir H. C. Maxwell-Lyte, K.C.B., Sir Frederic Kenyon, K.C.B., Professor C. H. Firth, M.A., LL.D., and Mr. R. A. Roberts.

With the object of securing the co-operation of the owners of manuscripts, without which their work could not be carried on, the Commissioners think it desirable to describe the system upon which they conduct their enquiries.

If the owner of any collection of manuscript books or documents express his willingness to submit them to the Commissioners, an inspection is made under their direction by some competent and trustworthy person, and if any of the manuscripts appear to come within the scope of their enquiry, the owner is asked to consent to the publication of copies or abstracts of them in the reports of the Commission presented to Parliament.

The object of the Commission being the discovery of unpublished historical and literary materials, attention is directed to that object exclusively, and owners of manuscripts need be under no apprehension that the examination of papers by the Commission may mean in any way a prying into private affairs. Positive directions are given by the Commissioners to every person who inspects manuscripts on their behalf that nothing that affects the titles of existing owners is to be divulged, and that, if in the course of his work any modern title-deeds or papers of a private nature chance to come before him, he is to put them aside at once without examination or note.

(B 119) Wt. 24772—34 1625 12/14 H & S Gp. 16/35.

To emphasize more strongly the confidential nature of his task, every person employed by the Commission to inspect a collection of documents is required to consider it a condition of his employment that all notes made by him in the course of such employment are to be regarded as the property of the Commission, and that he is not at liberty to use in any way any information obtained from papers submitted to the Commissioners without their permission: this is never given without the express consent of the owners of the papers.

In practice it has been found expedient, in dealing with a large collection of manuscripts, for the inspector to make a selection therefrom and to obtain the owner's consent to the removal of the selected papers for a time to the Public Record Office in London or in Dublin, or to the General Register House in Edinburgh, where they can be dealt with more easily, and where they are treated with the same care as the muniments of the realm, whose place of deposit they temporarily share.

The whole cost of inspections, reports, and calendars, and the conveyance of documents is defrayed at the public expense.

Among the numerous owners of valuable documents who have given their sanction to the temporary removal of manuscripts by the Commission may be named:—His Majesty the King, the Duke of Rutland, the Duke of Portland, the Duke of Buccleuch, the Marquess of Salisbury, the Marquess of Ormonde, the Marquess Townshend, the Marquess of Bath, the Earl of Dartmouth, the Earl of Carlisle, the Earl of Egmont, Lord Kenyon, Lord Sackville, Mrs. Stopford Sackville, Sir George Wombwell, Mr. le Fleming, of Rydal, Mr. Fortescue, of Dropmore, and Mr. Rawdon Hastings, of Ashby de la Zouche.

The work of the Commissioners, with the liberal-minded co-operation of many owners of manuscripts, has resulted so far in the publication of more than a hundred and fifty volumes of previously unprinted historical materials.

The Commissioners also regard it as part of their duty to be ready to give advice as to the housing and keeping of valuable papers, and the repair of any that may be in a state of decay.

A. E. STAMP,
Secretary.
